High School Boy's Poison Death Probed

ATHLETE IS KILLED BY STRYCHNINE

Suicide Possibility Is Excluded As Detectives Sift Mystery

FRESNO, Cal., April 22.—(UP)—Fresno police today launched a full investigation into the death of Olin Everts, 15-year-old high school athlete and honor student whom doctors say was poisoned by "enough strychnine to kill five men."

Young Everts, son of one of Fresno's most prominent attorneys, died early last night at a local hospital six hours after he had been seized with convulsions in a history class at the Fresno High school.

Cause of death was determined immediately as strychnine poisoning by Physician Eli Dau who attended him, and Coroner James N. Lisle.

How Everts had procured the poison remained a mystery.

Suicide Theory Excluded
District Attorney Dan F. Conway, personal friend of the boy's father, Frank G. Everts, said preliminary examination excluded any possibility of suicide. Everts had attended his classes at school and taken an active part in recitations. His teachers as well as his family said

Law Acts To Rush Jekyll-Hyde Slayer To Electric Chair

NEW YORK, April 22.—(UP)—Policemen, relieved of the necessity of playing the role of dumb cops, hustled curly-haired, "Good Boy" John Fiorenza toward the electric chair today as ruthlessly as he attacked and murdered Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton 12 days ago.

Yesterday Fiorenza, 24, confessed that he was the maniac—his own word—who killed Mrs. Titterton in a frenzy of brutal lust.

The young slayer, his shoe laces, tie and belt removed to prevent a possible attempt at suicide, appeared on the brightly lighted platform in the police lineup today and again admitted the murder of the wife.

He listened nervously as Deputy Inspector Daniel J. Curtayne read the formal charge.

His criminal record was rehearsed, the detectives who made the arrest were praised and then Fiorenza was taken in an automobile to homicide court where he formally was arraigned.

Tomorrow District Attorney William C. Dodge will ask for an indictment.

The trial will begin on the earliest date the courts can allot," Dodge said.

Detectives, who solved Fiorenza's "perfect" crime with a combination of science and "flatfooting," investigated the possibility it was he who stripped the clothes from a pretty deaf-and-dumb girl on a snow-covered apartment roof near his home Jan. 21 and that he is the "Peeping Tom" who had terrified women of the same neighborhood.

F.D.R.'S SECRET NOTE DEMANDED IN POWER WAR
WASHINGTON, April 22.—(UP)—Private utility interests fighting the New Deal's $200,000,000 municipal power program, demanded today that the government produce a secret note President Roosevelt wrote Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes outlining the New Deal's PWA power policy.

The message—written from Hyde Park, N. Y., and initialed "F. D. R." in pencil—became the central issue of the utilities' district supreme court fight to have the government's policy of using federal funds to finance public-owned electricity systems declared unconstitutional.

The request that federal attorneys produce the president's note was a surprise move in the power companies' attempt to prove the government was using its power program to hammer down utility rates.

Jerome Frank, PWA attorney, protested the utility demand. He challenged the right of the power attorneys to subpoena the president's correspondence.

The demand came after a legal dog fight between Frank, Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, and Dean Acheson, former assistant treasury secretary, over the authority of PWA's electrical board of review.

REVEAL HUGE COST OF TOWNSEND PLAN
WASHINGTON, April 22.—(UP)—Economist Robert R. Doane told a house investigating committee today that operation of the proposed Townsend Old Age Pension would cost $800 a year in taxes on a family with an annual income of $1800.

Doane resumed testimony before the committee today after it had summoned Dr. Francis E. Townsend, co-author of the plan, to appear May 5.

Spending of $200 a month, as proposed in the Townsend plan, Doane continued, would step up production in all lines with the result that all natural resources would be exhausted 25 years earlier than otherwise.

$168,256 PAID IN DELINQUENT TAX LUMP SUM
LOS ANGELES, April 22.—(UP)—Ralph Snidow was startled one morning when he awoke to find that the woman beside him, who he had assumed was his wife, claimed to be her twin sister.

He paid her $20, he said, not to tell Mrs. Snidow. The situation was repeated during ensuing weeks and called for additional payments until Snidow became decidedly annoyed and investigated.

In a suit for annulment on file today against Service Parker Snidow, whom he married last Feb. 9 at Yuma, Ariz., Snidow accused her of impersonating a non-existent "twin sister."

WHITE HOUSE AIDE IS LAID TO REST
FALL RIVER, Mass., April 22.—(UP)—A navy bugler today sounded the requiem for Louis McHenry Howe, the little man who put Franklin D. Roosevelt into the White House.

Howe, senior White House secretary and political adviser to the president for a quarter century, was buried in Oak Grove cemetery here as Mr. Roosevelt, saddened and silent, looked on.

The Rev. Edmund J. Cleveland, rector of Ascension Episcopal church, officiated at the brief services at the grave. A cold wind whipped through the cemetery during the services but the president stood bareheaded and erect, flanked on each side by his two sons, Franklin, Jr., and John, who came from Harvard university for the funeral.

Sally Denies That She's Fire Hazard
SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 22.—(UP)—After Sally Rand's testimony that no one was looking for the exits anyway while she was dancing, Police Judge Clarence Terry today dismissed charges brought by the fire department against the exposition Cafe of the World.

Fire Captain J. R. Duercher charged J. S. Madill of the cafe with violating a city ordinance in having all lights, including the exits, turned out while Sally danced at the recent Junior League ball.

The city's case, contending a great fire hazard had been created, collapsed from lack of evidence.

Need Destroyer? 12 Are For Sale
WASHINGTON, April 22.—(UP)—Twelve destroyers, built during the World War period, and now out of commission, will be offered for sale by the navy department.

The department said today that the ships "had been found unfit for further naval service." Four of the vessels, the Wadsworth, Wanslow, Nicholson and Cushing, operated in European waters during the World war.

STRETCHER-BEARERS GO DOWN SHAFT TO BRING DYING MEN TO SURFACE

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 22.—(UP)—Rescue crews, risking their lives in a crumbling shaft, were reported this afternoon to have broken into the mine tunnel in which Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding have been entombed with the body of a dead companion for more than nine days.

Fragmentary reports brought to the surface indicated the rescuers had made only a small opening at first and that it might take some time to enlarge the passage sufficiently to take the men out of their prison 141 feet below the surface.

A miner working toward the head of the sloping rescue shaft brought out the news for which hundreds at the mine head had been waiting for days.

Dr. H. K. MacDonald, after a visit into the shaft, explained the difficulties encountered in the final phase of the rescue work.

"It is not a quick business as only one man can work at a time, sawing the steel rails that used to carry the mine cars and that now are blocking the rescuers' progress," he said.

Shortly before 1 p. m. the rescue crews picked their way through what they believed was the last rock between them and the two imprisoned men.

They could talk to Robertson and Scadding, who were reported to be in "good spirits" although suffering.

The rescuers then encountered still more obstacles and at 2:04 p. m., a government official announced that they had not yet been able to reach the trapped men.

Michael Dwyer, minister of mines, directing the rescue work, put on oil skins and descended the damp shaft.

Stretcher-bearers and a physician, Dr. H. K. MacDonald, followed him.

Break Through Barrier
The Canadian Broadcasting commission announced without qualification at 12:05 p. m. that the rescuers had broken through the last barrier.

At 1:22 p. m., however, the rescuers had not yet reached Dr. Robertson and Scadding.

Hard-bitten coal miners from Stellarton who carried forward the brunt of the work, were laboring toward the last on the flat of their stomachs, so low was the passage.

They had to enlarge this and then cut through broken and decayed timbers which blocked a corner of the shaft around which

BRITISH APPEAL TO SAVE SLAYER

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 22.—(UP)—A formal appeal for another reprieve for Alexander Mackay, British subject sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison Friday, was made by Gov. Frank F. Merriam today by A. C. Charlton, British consul general, San Francisco.

Mackay and Joseph Kristy are scheduled to be hanged for their participation in the prison break last year when Warden James B. Holohan was beaten and four prison officials kidnapped.

Originally slated to die February 28, their execution was stayed 90 days when Mackay appealed to King Edward VIII to intercede.

It was not within Governor Merriam's power to grant a commutation of sentence or a pardon, but he could issue reprieves indefinitely if he so desired.

'Broken Heart' Fable Is Scotched By Specialist
PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—(UP)—The human heart is incapable of emotion—it wouldn't even hurt if literally broken, Dr. Fred K. Kaltefleiter, heart specialist at Jefferson hospital, told a medical society meeting here.

Elaborating upon his theory, Dr. Kaltefleiter told of an operation he performed on a heart. He said that while the patient was under local anesthetic, he made an incision, reached in and pinched the heart. "I gave it a good, hard pinch and there was no pain," Dr. Kaltefleiter said. "Then I rubbed the heart hard. Again there was no pain, al-

SAN FRANCISCO MEN RETURN TO WORK ON DOCKS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—(UP)—San Francisco longshoremen swung their hooks lustily into the cargoes of 31 ships today as waterfront activity resumed after an eight-day deadlock.

The union dispatching hall, center of contention in the controversy which was ended by mutual agreement last night, sent out 101 gangs, numbering about 1800 men, to work the cargoes which had lain in ship holds during the dispute.

Winches creaked, sling loads swung in and out of holds and trucks rumbled over the Embarcadero cobblestones as the men, anxious to be doing something after the week's idleness, attacked the piled-up cargo.

The agreement which ended the dispute was expected to lead to a permanent truce in waterfront employer-longshoremen relations although it left unsettled several important problems and also revealed a rift between the San Francisco local of the International Longshoremen's association and the district officers of the union.

The pact was initiated last night by local and district officers of the I. L. A. and representatives of the Waterfront Employers' association. Federal Arbitrator M. C. Sloos also signed it.

Sloos warned that both sides must abide by the agreement and accept his rulings as final.

Slayer Must Die For Old Killing

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 22.—(UP)—Delbert Green, 28, faced death for the fifth time today for a murder committed more than six years ago.

The state board of pardons and appeals refused late yesterday to commute his death sentence to life imprisonment. As a result Greene will be returned to Davis county, where he was convicted, to be resentence by Judge E. E. Pratt who, must, according to Utah law, fix the execution date not less than 30 or more than 90 days after the prisoner is returned to his jurisdiction.

GIRL ENTERS GUILTY PLEA IN THEFT CASE

When she returned from Weiser, Idaho, two days ago, went to Long Beach and sought to press charges of a statutory nature against a fireman of that city, Helen Meyers, 19, former brief resident of Santa Ana, made a mistake. Long Beach officials who declared the statutory charges were entirely groundless, remembered that she was wanted here for alleged theft of $55 worth of clothing from Esther Smith, 1948 West First street, Santa Ana, last February 18, and called Police Chief Floyd W. Howard.

Brought here this morning by Police Matron Dorothy Russick and Detective Charles Wolford, Miss Meyers pleaded guilty, after a confession, before Justice Kenneth Morrison on a charge of petty theft. Judgment will be pronounced Friday.

According to Officer Wolford's investigation, Miss Smith felt sorry for Miss Meyers and gave her a home for several days last February. When Miss Meyers left for Idaho, she allegedly took two dresses, two pocketbooks, a pair of pajamas and some underclothing belonging to her benefactor. Part of the clothes were recovered at an express company headquarters here and the remainder were sent back from Idaho after Chief Howard contacted the Weiser chief of police, who, in turn, contacted Miss Meyers.

"Yes, I took the clothes," Miss Meyers was quoted as saying today. "I needed them. Then I hitch-hiked to Weiser. My father is in trouble too. He is wanted in California, Washington and Idaho for automobile theft."

Turns Other Cheek and It Is Bitten

When Raymond C. Buck, furloughed soldier from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., turned the other cheek, an antagonist bit it, he indicated last night when he appeared at Orange county hospital for first aid treatment.

"I had a fight with a man I didn't know, but he was the aggressor," Buck declared. "However, I did strike him twice and one of the blows knocked out two of his teeth. During the fight the man bit me on the arm and cheek; but I guess I'll just let by-gones be by-gones. I don't care to swear out a warrant for his arrest."

CHAMBER STILL UNCERTAIN ON PRISON ACTION

No action had been taken today by officials of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce in regard to submitting to its membership the question as to whether business interests of the city should support or oppose location of a state prison farm between Santa Ana and Costa Mesa near the latter community.

Several days ago the chamber was requested by a member to submit the question to the general membership for action either favorable or otherwise. So far this has not been done, although the board of directors of the chamber previously went on record as opposing the prison farm for this county.

Since the chamber directors opposed the establishment of the big state institution in this county, sentiment has become divided on the merits of the proposal, and it was felt that the membership of the chamber should have an opportunity to voice its belief in the matter.

Yesterday the prison farm site committee, of which Assemblyman Edward T. Craig is a member, journeyed to Kern and San Luis Obispo counties to inspect a site in each county suggested for the prison site.

It is known, however, that the prison site committee favors the Costa Mesa site above all others so far inspected, and will reach no decision on where the prison farm is to be located until the Costa Mesa site is either selected or rejected.

own 220,000 volt line. The new connection, 38 miles in length, will permit transfer of 350,000 horsepower of electric energy.

The completion of the connections, set tentatively for July, 1937, would provide a central and northern California outlet for surplus power created in Southern California through the Edison company's contract for use of part of the Boulder dam production.

The tieup also will relieve the two major companies—San Joaquin Light and Power is a subsidiary of P. G. and E.—of the necessity of making further capital investments in plant capacity so long as surplus power can be transferred economically from one company to the other, Downing said.

"The plan is especially desirable for the operating economies it will effect," he said. "Fixed charges for new capacity will be avoided by the San Joaquin company and similar charges of idle existing capacity will be saved by the Edison company."

COUPLE BOUND OVER ON CATTLE THEFT CHARGE

Arraigned this morning before Justice Kenneth Morrison, Zorun "Zeke" Barton, 26, and his nephew, Rex Barton, 18, of Bellflower and Compton, were held on $15000 bail each and ordered to appear for preliminary hearing on charges of cattle stealing.

The men were captured by Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart and Harvey Gulick near Lancaster early yesterday morning after a 48-hour stakeout, set when it was learned the men had sold two Gurnsey heifers, valued at $100 and belonging to D. W. Ellis of Greenville, to a Lancaster rancher. The Bartons had returned to the Lancaster ranch to collect $20 still due on sale of the heifers, when arrested. They indicated their desire to plead guilty, today, after the younger man confessed, officers said.

HIGH SCHOOL DEATH PROBED

he seemed in the best of spirits up to the time of his seizure.

When taken to the hospital and up to the last few minutes of his life, he could give no reason for his illness, but said he "didn't think it was anything serious," although he was in intense pain until his death at 6 p. m.

Less than half an hour after his death, laboratory examination revealed the strychnine content of Everts' stomach showed sufficient quantity to have killed several men.

News of the poisoning was not released by Conway until this morning at the conclusion of a preliminary investigation which he said "proved conclusively" that there was "no possibility of suicide."

Everts, a junior in scholastic standing, was described as one of the brightest boys in school by his principal, E. C. Kratt.

"He was more than a year ahead of the average student of his age," Kratt said, "and took intense interest in sports and extra-curricular activity."

Husky and strong for his age, Everts was a stellar performer on the Fresno High swimming team and made the varsity football squad in his sophomore year although only 14.

MOTHER LOSES HER FIGHT FOR FREDDIE

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—(UP)—Superior Judge Harry R. Archbald, after a brief but tempestuous hearing, denied today the motion of Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew to set aside the guardianship of her motion picture star son, Freddie, which was vested in his aunt.

Judge Archbald handed down his decision at the end of a hectic session in which sensational charges of "unfitness" and "publicity-seeking" were flung at the mother.

The dismissed motion was based solely upon legal grounds. Mrs. Bartholomew contending that she had not received sufficient notice when the courts awarded the aunt, Miss Lyllicent Bartholomew, temporary custody of the boy seven years last October.

The mother's counsel, Leonard J. Meyberg, announced he would file a new action late today or tomorrow setting forth a new cause for action in her fight to recapture her son's custody.

When 20,000 people of all ages thronged the White House lawn in Washington to view the annual Easter egg-rolling festival, most of them wanted a peek at Mrs. Roosevelt. Because of the crowd, however, they found it difficult to get a glimpse of her. Can you? Just as a hint, the First Lady's countenance may be seen somewhere in the middle of that sea of smiling faces. In the back ground is the south portico of the White House.

RESCUERS BREAK THRU WALL HOLDING 2 MINE PRISONERS

An ambulance waited at the pit mouth to carry the men across a muddy field to an improvised hospital as soon as they could be brought out.

Dr. F. R. Davis, provincial minister of health, also went into the rescue shaft.

At the top of the narrow hole which was drilled into the underground chamber four days ago, H. F. Hannigan was talking to the two men below.

Area Roped Off

The area around the drill hole was roped off and Royal Canadian Mounted Police prevented anyone from passing the barrier. It was impossible to learn what Robertson and Scadding said to Hannigan, or what he told them.

As the rescue crew cleared away more of the debris in the shaft, it was established that they were able to talk to the two men.

It was said at 1:30 p. m. that only a few small rocks and broken timbers still blocked the way.

In the hospital, nearly a mile away, beds were warmed with hot water bottles and preparations completed for emergency treatment of the men who were subjected to more than nine days of hunger, damp cold, and darkness.

Surgical instruments were made ready for a possible operation on Scadding, whose feet became swollen and infected from wading in cold water. An oxygen tent also was set up for treatment of pneumonia, which it was feared Dr. Robertson might have contracted.

There was a third stretcher at the shaft head, with only a plain canvas covering. That was for the body of Herman R. Magill, who was trapped with the other two on Easter Sunday and died a week later. Two miners in oil skins and steel helmets waited to take the body to a morgue room in the hospital.

Crowds Held Back
Other miners formed a cordon around the shaft head to hold the crowds of curious at a distance. Reporters and photographers perched on tractors, boxes, ladders and automobile tops to get a good view.

At 1:45 p. m. (est.) it was still unknown to those on the surface whether the rescuers had actually reached the entombed men.

Dr. Glenn Donovan of the government medical staff at 2:05 p. m. said workers on the surface "had word from Dr. D. E. Robertson through the microphone a few minutes ago."

He said Robertson and Alfred Scadding, the other entombed man, "are in good spirits and can hear" the workers breaking through.

"Minister of Mines Dwyer and Dr. Davis are both down in the pit arranging to move the men out as soon as the timber and steel which they encountered at the last minute has been cut through."

"The timber has been removed and they are sawing through some steel with hacksaws," Donovan said.

"We don't think we will encounter any rock that will bother us now."

The steel which was encountered at the last moment was the twisted remains of the rails used 25 years ago to operate ore cars in the shaft.

Foreclosure On Church Is Delayed Today
Threatened foreclosure of a $40,000 trust deed against the First Methodist church of Fullerton, which was to have been auctioned today to the highest bidder, from the courthouse steps, was postponed 30 days by the Bank of America.

The reason for the postponement was not learned here. Bank officials said they had merely been instructed to arrange the postponement.

LAW ACTS TO SPEED SLAYER TO HIS DEATH

conflict between the sex-obsessed character Fiorenza painted for himself in his confession, and the esteem in which his friends held him was baffling to police psychiatrists.

The youth told police and prosecutors he attacked Mrs. Titterton, 16 years his senior, because "she was exquisite—I couldn't help myself."

Pauline De Antonis, 24, whom he gave a diamond ring in January and whom he was going to marry in June, refused to believe he had committed the crime.

Fiorenza further confused attempts to probe his character by helping in every way to condemn himself. He not only signed a confession, he acted out in every revolting detail the exact manner in which he committed his crime.

Confronted with the 13-inch piece of upholsterer's twine which he used to bind Mrs. Titterton and which detectives traced from a Pennsylvania factory to a wholesaler, to a jobber, and then to the shop of Fiorenza's employer, Theodore Krueger, he abandoned his protestations of innocence. He said that when he and Krueger went to the Titterton apartment April 11 to get a love seat that Mrs. Titterton wanted reupholstered, he became instantly enamored by her boyish vivacity and charm.

He went back to her apartment the next morning after telephoning the excuse to Krueger that he would be late because he had to report a court probation officer. In a discussion of fabrics most appropriate for use on the love seat against varying backgrounds, with policemen and prosecutors trailing him, he walked through the apartment again as he did on that day.

"I went into the bedroom," he said, "and she followed me. She had a pajama coat in her hands. I grabbed it and stuffed it in her mouth."

Mrs. Titterton, weighing only 98 pounds against Fiorenza's 145, fought vigorously. She pushed the pajama coat aside long enough to gasp, Fiorenza said: "Don't hurt me, please."

But he pushed her face downward on her bed, tied her hands with his piece of twine, and tore off her clothes. After the attack he carried her, unconscious, into the bathroom and placed her in the tub. He intended to drown her but left her to strangle with her pajama coat knotted around her neck, because he could not find the bathtub stopper. Water dripping from a shower faucet did enter her lungs and hasten her death.

Lewis Titterton, the slain woman's husband, refused today to view Fiorenza. He said he was "glad" that Fiorenza had been captured, but he would not go near him.

Court Notes

The R and B Cut Rate Drug company of Los Angeles, today filed notice in superior court today of its intention to move for a new trial of the damage suit brought against it by Harry J. Enz, Anaheim garage man, who was awarded $3000 damages by a jury because a pharmacist in the company's Anaheim drug store made an error in filling a prescription, giving Enz formaldehyde instead of paraldehyde.

Consider Blasting
He said the rock bed was solid below the 141-foot level in which Robertson and Scadding are trapped. If the effort to reach through the crumbling old Reynolds shaft fails, he believed a new shaft could be blasted safely. Others still thought that blasting would be likely to shake loose tons of rock that might crush Robertson, Scadding and rescue workers.

Although both Scadding's and Robertson's voices seemed strong to those who talked to them today through the "life line" bore that was drilled into their chamber, doctors at the surface were worried over the condition of both men. Scadding was suffering from trench feet, due to hours of wading about in cold water in the mine, and was reported to be gravely in need of medical attention.

Robertson's cold, which it was feared yesterday might develop into pneumonia, was somewhat better. But his strength was so low that physicians knew his condition might become worse at any time.

Bottles of sterile water were brought to the mine head for use of doctors in an emergency treatment that might be necessary when the men are brought out. The cots set up there were warmed with hot water bottles.

Crews of men were put to work on the 17-mile road from the mine to Middle Musquodobolt, so that the ambulances can get through to Halifax as soon as the victims can be safely moved that far. Rains the last four days made the road almost impassable. Mudholes in some places were two feet deep.

STRIPP TAKES $1000 CUT, JOINS DODGERS

NEW YORK, April 22.—(UP)—Manager Casey Stengel revised Brooklyn's infield today, with Joe Stripp, last of the major league holdouts, signed to a Dodger contract.

Stripp went to third, and Jimmy Bucher was expected to go to second, with Linus Frey moving to his old position at shortstop in place of Ben Geraghty.

Stripp was believed to have signed for $8000, a reduction of $1000 from his 1935 pay.

Ken Murray SAYS:

The ex-Mrs. Fay Webb Valice received another set-back in her suit to get $7450 alimony a month from Rudy, when a New York court ruled, that she'd have to be satisfied with the $100 per week she's now getting.

What would you call that, "The Battle of the Century-note?"

Naturally, Fay is somewhat disappointed in not being able to get that $7450 per, but she should realize that everybody is having trouble collecting war debts, these days.

I guess Rudy has found out by now that billing and owing is all right to sing about, but pretty expensive in actual practice. . . . The cooling only lasted through the honeymooning, but the billing goes on forever.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIMS GIVEN $16,861 AWARD

A $16,861 damage award was won by the Archie Reilly family of Santa Ana last night, in their superior court suit against Paul Bailey, engineer for the Orange County Water District, based upon an automobile crash at Chapman and Tustin avenues, Orange, last July 21.

Bailey had admitted full liability for the collision and offered no testimony in defense, as the case was heard before a jury yesterday in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court. The jury took the case at 3:05 p. m. and returned its verdict at 9:05 p. m., allowing $12,000 to Reilly, a local plasterer, $4000 to his wife, Josephine, and $861 to their son, Donald.

Reilly, who suffered a broken leg, among other injuries, had sued for $21,653.55. Mrs. Reilly, who suffered attacks of amnesia, and one night had been found wading in the surf at Newport Beach, unable to tell her name or residence, or explain how she got there, had asked $16,505.73. The son, Donald, had suffered a broken leg, and sued for $1211.

Bailey is said to have carried insurance.

MacTavish, Scottish Terrier "Blue Blood," Gets Full Nutrition Benefits From University Scientists' Dog-Feeding Discovery

60% Daily Ration of One Certain Food Can Remove Dangers of "Cruelty Diet" That May Threaten Your Dog

FOOD can make or break your dog! This is the news—important to every dog owner—that comes from university experts.

Their tests point out the dangers of feeding a "cruelty diet." Table left-overs and cheap canned foods made with waste, science says, may lack vital body-building elements.

Veterinarians will tell you that 85% of all dog diseases are due to unbalanced feeding.

"Feed 60% one special food," experts urge

A famous West Coast university expert says:

"A readily available source of energy and an adequate supply of necessary minerals and protein should exist in a dog's food."

"Balto has these three assets which are so important in the daily food intake."

"Regardless of what other foods are given, a daily feeding of at least 60% Balto will benefit canine health."

Balto is made especially to nourish dogs. It contains fresh-caught fish, processed whole—with the valuable glandular tissue included. Every can is packed under supervision of California State inspectors.

Your dog needs at least 60% Balto in his daily feeding. Will you see that he gets it? Send for our free booklet—"Pet Feeding for Health." Coast Fishing Co., Wilmington, California.

ANPA CHARGES PRESS PERILED BY GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, April 22.—(UP)—Federal control of telegraph and telephone companies, as well as radio stations, "has opened the door for the government to attempt to intimidate the press," the radio radio committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association reported today to the association's annual meeting.

The committee is headed by E. H. Harris, the other members being Amon G. Carter, Norman Chandler, E. D. Corson, P. A. Engel, E. S. Friendly, H. Ponting, J. G. Stahlman and O. S. Warden.

"Wire and radio communications are closely allied," the committee said. "Their operations now are subject to the same dictatorial powers assumed by the federal communications commission. Newspapers and press associations cannot function except through communications systems supervised by the same commission."

Saying it was a service to the public and would help keep presentation of news over the radio free from censorship, the committee recommended continuance for another year of the press-radio bureau, which supplies news bulletins to broadcasting stations free of charge. The committee presented a resolution requesting that the United Press, Associated Press and International News Service be asked to continue their cooperation with the bureau.

The committee said radio can never supplant the press, or attain an equal footing with it, because of the inherent necessity for government licensing of broadcasting stations and the fact that the limited number of channels makes each station a monopoly in its area and on its channel. "This opens the door for control as to who shall speak and in some cases what shall be said."

Citing European examples, the committee said "no matter what party happens to be in power, this system offers to that party a temptation to use this medium of communication for propaganda purposes."

"Attempts of radio to function in the field of journalism must fail because a government license destroys the freedom of which any journalistic endeavor rests," the committee said.

RAIN INCREASES READING

SALINAS, CAL. (UP)—Reading depends on rain, according to Miss Amanda Anderson, city librarian. In February, 1935, when there was only a quarter of an inch of rainfall she lent 7582 books. In February of this year when almost six inches of rainfall kept people more indoors she loaned 8743 books.

P. C. L. ATTENDANCE JUMPS 15 PER CENT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—(UP)—Rain washed out a scheduled game between the league-leading Oakland Oaks and the San Francisco Seals in San Francisco Tuesday.

The lull gave President Charlie Graham of the Seals an opportunity to take a good look at the results of the season to date, and the survey was highly satisfactory, showing that attendance throughout the loop has increased approximately 15 per cent over last year's figures.

The reason? Graham believes the fans out to see pre-season dopesters' predictions kicked into the discard. The Oaks, doped for a position somewhere in the second division, are the shining examples of this upset.

"Attendance was comparatively light the first week of the schedule because fans believed the teams would run on a cut-and-dried basis as predicted by the so-called experts," he said.

"They apparently believed the Missions and Angels would take an early lead and hold it throughout the season. They figured Sacramento, San Diego, Oakland and Seattle would find their way into the cellar immediately and stay there until the end."

DEMURRER IN CHAPMAN CASE ARGUED TODAY

Demurrer by Charles C. Chapman, Fullerton orange grower, to the $1,181,000 stockholders liability suit brought against him as principal stockholder of the Santa Ysabel Land Company, by the Security-First National Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles, was being argued today before Superior Judge G. K. Seovel.

The demurrer and motion to strike, filed by the Chapman attorneys, applies to the third amended complaint of the bank, based upon a trust deed covering property of the old Hotel Alexandria corporation, now defunct. The Santa Ysabel Land Company had acquired the hotel properties.

Former Judge Frank C. Drumm arguing the demurrer on behalf of Chapman today, maintained his former position at previous hearings of demurrers in the case, contending that the bank had no right to bring the stockholders liability suit until the security for the indebtedness is first exhausted.

There is no waiver in the trust deed that would give the bank such right to sue, he argued; at the same time he denied that the trust deed represented a direct contract between the bank and the land company, but rather was a contract between the bank and the defunct hotel corporation.

It would first be necessary to exhaust the security and obtain a deficiency judgment showing the liability of the land company, before any liability of its stockholders could be established, Drumm argued.

Attorneys S. M. Reinhaus, of Santa Ana, and H. R. Prince, Los Angeles, appeared on behalf of the bank.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The value of trying to preserve peace by economic force may now be measured in dollars and cents.

The figures are not being announced here, possibly because they raise an embarrassing question. But if you will go into the records of the league of nations, you will find just what has happened under the sanctions trade embargoes adopted again Italy last fall.

After all President Roosevelt said in his appeals to American business to hold down on trade with Italy, after all State Secretary Hull threatened to do to exporters caught shipping to Italy, after all the hubbub here about American cooperation against Mussolini—the figures show that Uncle Sam was the biggest loser of the sanctions trade embargo. He did not make very much, not enough to be called a profiteer, but he made practically all the profit there was. He took the markets England and France formerly had in Italy, and if he had not done it, someone else would have.

The result of the whole transaction was detrimental to the peace advocates, only a minor annoyance to the belligerent, and profitable to outsiders.

It shows what usually happens when anyone or any group tries to play big brother to the world.

FIGURES
A trustworthy unofficial estimate is that, from the time sanctions were invoked, United States trade with Italy was increased about $4,000,000.

The league official figures afford only a comparison for the first three months of sanctions, November, December and January. For that period, United States trade with Italy has increased about $4,000,000, the similar period of the previous year.

In the same official period, England's trade dropped from $2,742,000 to $2,000,000, France's from $1,889,000 to $1,559,000, indicating that, as far as they were concerned, they really put the embargo into effect.

Other gainers besides the United States were Austria (increase $1,500,000) and Germany (increase $840,000).

One of the wisest of Washington business men returned to Washington recently with convincing proof that Mr. Roosevelt would be defeated for re-election. He said that 95 per cent of the big shots in Wall street are convinced that Roosevelt's re-election is certain and they have never been right about anything yet.

DIRT

The head of the Democratic congressional campaign is Pat Drewry of Virginia and that of the Republican is Chester Bolton of Ohio. They were chatting in the lobby when a member came up and asked them about Postmaster General Farley's statement that this is going to be a dirty presidential campaign.

"No sir, not as far as we are concerned," replied the Democrat. "I have the highest respect for Mr. Bolton." "No indeed," chimed Bolton. "Mr. Drewry is the highest type you could place in such a position."

SPOT
The Italo-British-Ethiopian conflict has resolved itself into a race to get in out of the rain. Military attaches here assert that Mussolini has extended his Ethiopian lines too far for comfort. He cannot protect them against guerrilla reprisals for long. Should the "little rains" descend early this season—about May 1—his far-flung forces will have to retire or be washed out. That accounts for his pressure for a separate and speedy armistice outside league circles. Time fights against him and Geneva negotiations have hope as a Rhineland reinforcement a way of dragging along.

London and Paris foreign offices are studying calendars instead of ultimatums. France, which seeks Italy's return to Europe as a Rhineland reinforcement, frantically seconds Duce's demands. But England schemes for a delay which will weaken Benito in the field and undermine his influence in Central Europe.

PUNCH

The story behind the impeachment of Judge Ritter is short and simple—senatorial resentment of the judiciary's attitude toward New Deal laws. That figured subconsciously in the decisive vote.

Here's what happened. The Senate exculpated the Florida jurist on the six most serious charges. These involved alleged acceptance of money in return for judicial favors, and the spectacle of a judge accepting such gifts revolted most members. Offstage they expressed reluctance to convict, but pointed out that acquittal on such evidence would destroy confidence in the judiciary. That factor, however, did not count in the voting—not until they reached the seventh charge, which only alleged "unjudicial conduct," did they wake up and vote for conviction. It came like an after-thought.

An unnoted fact is that Senator Hinton's switch on the seventh ballot brought conviction. It so happens that Mr. Hinton once practiced law in Judge Ritter's district and may have been holding his punch for the last round. But colleagues recall that Mr. Hinton, as a Black committee inquisitor, has been unsparring in his criticism of the judiciary.

SHIFT

G. O. P. politicians are carpentering a relief plank for the presidential campaign behind the scenes. Ironically, they snatched the central idea—complete nationwide decentralization—from Harry Hopkins, the Roosevelt administrator.

In testimony before executive sessions of the house appropriations committee Mr. Hopkins conceded reluctantly that he could not supervise field forces and details. He admitted that politics crept into the administration of relief jobs and funds because of the system of remote control from Washington. Then he proved his opponents' point by firing several officials on the Pacific coast.

So the Republicans are tentatively discussing a setup under which relief money would be allocated to the states in proportion to their needs. Local officials would have to assume all responsibility. Reliefs on the spot would "police" the supervisors under this theory and force more efficient management. Best of all, Washington could disclaim any blame after it had passed out the dough. Some New Dealers have suggested such a change but it always ran into healthy frowns in high places.

Police News

Elsie Smith, 725 South Main, told city police someone tried to break into her home early yesterday, and that a similar attempt had been made three weeks ago. Fingerprints were left on the window, officers learned. Mrs. D. D. Patterson, 421 West Santa Clara, told officers Charles Neer and C. V. Adams she found the screen door hook jerked off by someone who apparently entered the kitchen; nothing had been disturbed, she said.

Arthur S. Magill, 34, 319 South Date street, Alhambra, was arrested on Santa Ana boulevard by Motorcycle Officer George Boyd yesterday afternoon and booked at county jail on a charge of being drunk. Magill's car, which officers reported he had been driving, was impounded temporarily.

Three speeders paid $5 each when they appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday. They were Marvin Stutheit, Route 1, Box 942, Orange; Richard Bird, Los Angeles, and B. R. Sargent, Los Angeles. Illegal parkers who paid $1 each were George D. Carmick, W. T. Cox, V. Gantino and Rex Parks.

Mrs. R. Jefferson Rust, of Anaheim, yesterday filed a petition in superior court to probate the will of her late husband, O. P. Rust, involving stocks and bonds with annual revenue of $1500. The will made Mrs. Rust sole heir.

M. E. Beebe, of Anaheim, has filed a petition in superior court for letters of administration over the $1000 estate of his father, H. Z. The petitioner also seeks letters of administration over the estate of his mother, Mary Beebe, who died March 23, this year, her estate of his mother, Mary Beebe, interest in the same lot also a lot in Garden Acres tract.

Alma L. Miller has brought suit in superior court for a divorce from Wade C. Miller, charging him with desertion.

S. W. BUILDING AND LOAN NOW KNOWN AS 1ST FEDERAL LOAN

At the opening for business tomorrow morning, the Southwest Building-Loan Association will become the "First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Santa Ana," operating under a charter issued by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. This announcement was made today by J. P. Baumgartner, president of the association, who stated that the Board in Washington had approved plans initiated by the shareholders some weeks ago to Federalize the association, which has operated in the thrift and home financing field here for eight years.

Every person who invests in the association will automatically be protected against loss up to $5000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation, similar to the protection now enjoyed by depositors in California banks. The Federalized association will enjoy other advantages, including supervision and periodical examination under the direction of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board; membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank, availability of Federal subscription to shares up to three times the entire private subscription; in addition to Federal approval as to solvency, policies and management which are prerequisite to Federalization.

President Baumgartner stated that all Federal associations are required to apply for insurance of accounts. They are also automatically members of the Federal Home Loan Bank system, insurance, he pointed out, assures safety to every shareholder, while membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank of Los Angeles affords rediscount privileges which assure a reservoir of credit for the normal functioning of a lending institution of this type, and the sound expansion of its services to home owner-borrowers.

Preparatory to approval for a Federal charter, insurance of accounts and membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank, the local association was thoroughly examined as to the quality of its assets, soundness of policy, management and other requirements.

Under the new plan the association will operate strictly as a mutual organization. Earnings will be distributed equally to all shareholders, in proportion to what they have paid in. Mr. Baumgartner said, lending operations will be confined to a radius of approximately fifty miles from the home office.

MUSTER DAY HELD BY CALUMPT CAMP

Members of Calumpt Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, renewed their obligations of fealty and loyalty last night during the annual Muster Day ceremony. The rites were led by commander James A. Randel and Acting Chaplain C. William Hannah.

During the business session a resolution disapproving the establishment of a prison farm in Orange county was read but no action was taken as the members were divided in their opinion. The resolution was tabled until the next meeting.

Commander Randel read the resignation of Chaplain Walter V. Tantlinger, and accepted it without comment.

Announcement of a dinner to be given May 15 by the Pipe and Drum corps was made by Manager Frank P. Rowe who said that the dinner is for a fund to be used in sending the corps to the department encampment in San Bernardino, May 17 to 20.

William Winders, of Los Angeles Camp No. 36, candidate for department patriotic instructor, succeeding Frank Rowe, was the principal speaker last night.

Several new members were taken into the organization and the camp accepted the invitation of the Rev. F. E. Lindgren, pastor of Calvary church, to attend Memorial day services at his church was accepted.

MESA RANCHER SUICIDE: ILL HEALTH CAUSE

Ill health was blamed for the suicide of Loran G. LaCoste, 47, Route 1, Box 251A, Costa Mesa, Monday night or early Tuesday morning, in a deserted field along a lonely road off Newport boulevard between Martin's airport and Paularino school.

LaCoste's body was discovered in his car late yesterday by S. K. Best, Route 1, Box 258, Costa Mesa, a rancher, who had been plowing in the field near the car all day and, when the car was still there at quitting time, investigated. LaCoste had run a rubber tube from the exhaust of the car, a coupe, into the seat beside him and closed the windows.

Monoxide gas caused death, officials said. Coroner Earl Abbey, who said no inquest will be conducted, believed the man had been dead approximately 14 or 15 hours when Best found him.

According to Mrs. LaCoste, her husband had threatened to take his life upon several previous occasions because of ill health. The body is at Dixon's funeral chapel, Costa Mesa, where funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. LaCoste, who sometimes used the name "Lin Lucas," was a rancher employed on the Segerstrom brothers ranch, near Costa Mesa, and lived on Wilson road. He is survived by his wife, Dorothy LaCoste; two step-sons, C. W. Brown and G. E. Brown of Oldale, two step-daughters, Mrs. Lew Vance, Tehachapi, and Mrs. George Dawson, Oakland.

NO INQUESTS INTO HANSON AND GOMEZ DEATHS TO BE HELD

Coroner Earl Abbey today announced, following investigations, that no inquests would be held in connection with the deaths of John P. Hanson, 47, well-known Orange rancher, killed instantly Monday when his car crashed head-on into a tree at Chapman avenue and Pine street, Orange, and Louis Gomez, 24, Garden Grove Mexican, who was drowned in the surf near Corona Del Mar Monday afternoon when he slipped from a rock and was knocked down by a heavy breaker. Gomez' body was recovered yesterday morning when discovered by searching friends.

THREE ESCAPE DEATH IN CAR. TRAIN CRASH

FULLERTON, April 22.—Three Northern Orange county young women last night narrowly escaped death in an accident between Buena Park and Artesia as they returned home from a visit in Hynes. Their car struck a box car and turned it over.

The most seriously injured is Marian Wright, 19, daughter of Mrs. A. G. Wright, formerly of Cannon Lane, Fullerton, now of 742 Clementine avenue, Anaheim, driver of the car. Quick action of the other two, Lois Pryor, daughter of E. E. Pryor, 244 West Brookdale, and Nyla Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunham, 715 West Commonwealth, Fullerton, in pulling her from the car saved her from being burned, as the auto caught fire after striking the freight car.

The freight train was crossing the highway, a side street about two blocks from Manchester, near Buena Park. Miss Wright said there was no wigwag at the crossing. She attempted to turn aside, but struck the car, throwing it off the rails, and her machine was dragged, and then turned over. She suffered a badly cut face, possible skull fracture, and a broken knee. Her hair and clothing were singed. She was rendered unconscious.

Miss Pryor, 23, is suffering from shock, and with Miss Wright is in the Fullerton General hospital. She will be removed to her home today.

Miss Dunham, 22, has a badly lacerated eye and face and a broken arm. She is at the Artesia hospital.

COUNCIL NAMES HEADS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS

FULLERTON, April 22.—Heads of all departments were re-elected at the first meeting of the newly organized city council last night at the city hall. The new mayor, Harry Maxwell, presided.

The heads of the department re-appointed are Albert Launer, city attorney; James L. Pearson, chief of police; Grover Walters, in charge of the water department; Roy Davis, chief of the fire department; Harry E. Byerrum, chief of the city park department, and Judge Halsey I. Spence, city judge, and Herman Hiltcher, city engineer.

Commonwealth avenue may be widened to 80-foot, and if this is done, the remodeling of the shoulders, for which certain gas tax funds have been received from the state, will be postponed. Hiltcher was instructed to work with the new street committee and confer with LeRoy Lyon, supervisor of this district, and the state road department concerning repairs on that street.

A request from the city of Newport Beach urging Fullerton as a member of the outfall sewer district to consider permitting Newport Beach to join the district under certain agreements, was tabled for further consideration.

Fullerton will be in receipt of $4800 on May 1 for the general fund, the share due from the automobile tax collected by the state.

GEORGE DUNTON CELEBRATES IN LINCOLN SHOWS

The Lincoln-Zephyr spring festival will continue through April 30, according to announcement of George Dunton today. Many visitors have been welcomed at the showrooms, 810 North Main, in recent days.

"So much interest has been aroused in this new kind of motor car," commented Dunton, "that a great many motorists are awaiting the chance to drive a Lincoln-Zephyr for themselves. Our invitation to do so during the spring festival has been enthusiastically accepted. A large number of men and women have learned for themselves that this Ford and Lincoln product is unusually nimble, safe, and above all, comfortable.

"The invitation to see and drive the V-12 Lincoln Zephyr is still open, and we have made arrangements to handle as many as accept. There is no obligation involvement; it is not even asked that the price of the automobile. What we do want is to have as many people as possible understand and appreciate the advanced performance, comfort, safety and economy of the Lincoln Zephyr.

Truck Operators Offered Checkup

Capt. H. C. Meehan reminded today that owners of trucks and all other commercial vehicles may have their equipment checked for legality by contacting the local state highway patrol office, at the courthouse. Officer George Peterkin is in charge of the commercial division. According to Chief E. Raymond Cato, of the highway patrol, all highway patrol units are prepared to test brakes and lighting equipment and assist owners in all requirements necessary to registration; approved lists of required devices for commercial vehicles will be furnished at time of inspection or they can be obtained by writing direct to Sacramento.

ANOTHER HERO - NATION'S SAFEST DRIVER

Well, why not? Isn't the man a hero who saves lives consistently? Below is Frank Randall, being awarded a gold medal after being adjudged the nation's safest driver of petroleum equipment. The honor was paid at a Safety Show held in Gilmore stadium, Los Angeles, recently, with Earl B. Gilmore, right, pinning the medal to Randall's coat as Los Angeles Police Chief James E. Davis looks on admiringly. Randall's record includes 750,000 miles of driving in the last 21 years without an accident.

ROOMY BODIES IS CHRYSLER 1936 FEATURE

"One of the features we are most complimented on," stated Otto Haan, Plymouth and Chrysler distributor for Orange county, yesterday, "is the large, roomy, wide bodies on the new 1936 Airflow Chrysler models."

Haan explained that the only way that an automobile manufacturer can get a wide front seat capable of comfortably seating three full grown passengers is in the new Airflow type of construction. By eliminating the conventional radiator, Chrysler engineers have built the front end of the car to the complete width of the frame eliminating the narrowing down of the front compartment and giving the same width as the rear seat to accommodate three full sized passengers. "In constructing the car in this manner Chrysler is able to give the public a car that is low with an overhauled height of only 56 inches, much lower than the average car, and still have an inside clearance from the roof to the floor of 46 inches in the front and 49 inches in the rear, allowing us to raise our cushions to chair height from the floor of the car," Haan declared.

"This type of cushion height is comparable to sitting on a foot stool and a comfortable chair at home. No one would like to sit on a foot stool for several hours with their knees stuck up under their chins when they can recline in an easy arm chair, stretching out with support for the full length of the legs. This is real home comfort for your car, too, so that you can lean back and recline your head on the cushion back. Real comfort for that long trip.

"Front seats are a full 50 inches wide where the average car is only 44 inches. One must see these cars and sit and ride in them to realize their comfort features and we cannot explain the miracle that happens at 45 miles per hour when the automatic overdrive takes effect and the motor travels at 30 miles per hour while the car still speeds along at 45. And remember, when you are cruising along at 60 miles, the motor is only traveling at 40 miles per hour. Sixteen to 18 miles to a gallon of gasoline and a tremendous saving on the wear on a motor.

"We cordially invite the public to visit our display rooms, at 505 South Main street, and see the complete line of Chrysler and Plymouth cars now on display. Courteous employees will be more than glad to explain the features of these cars to you."

WHEN CARBURETOR 'PERKS', FIX IT

Carburetors aren't supposed to work like coffee percolators, although some of them do, according to C. O. Knox of Knox brothers, 519 North Sycamore, Oldsmobile dealers. "But you'll never find a carburetor on a 1936 Oldsmobile which works like a coffee percolator," Knox added. "In the new Oldsmobile, a special anti-percolating device has been built into the carburetor which permits the vapor to escape through a vertical pass, relieving pressure and permitting the gasoline to remain in the bowl where it belongs."

It is due to engine heat that cars are sometimes hard to start in hot weather, he pointed out, the heat causing the gasoline to boil, with the vapor thus created forcing the gasoline in the carburetor float bowl, into the manifold, from which it runs out through the drain pipes.

Cars Go 1000 Miles Daily To Test All-State Tires

Motorcycles are Danger Vehicles

Four women were included among the 61 persons killed last year in California in accidents involving motorcycles, according to a report submitted to Capt. H. C. Meehan, local head of the state highway patrol. And an average of more than 233 persons per month paid with their lives as result of motor vehicle accidents in California in 1935; approximately one person is killed in California, at the present rate, for every 12 accidents recorded.

Several families in Moscow, as a rule, share a communal kitchen.

SEARS, ROEBUCK CHECKS ITS OWN BY ALL OTHERS

A thousand-mile-a-day, 60-mile an hour grind, over paved, gravel and dirt roads, for six months, is the goal of five "All-State" tire test cars of Sears, Roebuck and company, which passed through Santa Ana this week after stopping at the local store where L. A. Werne, fleet captain, was greeted by George J. Shanahan, store manager.

En route to Akron, Ohio, home base, after completing 400,000 miles in a test conducted over Arizona roads during the winter, the fleet, composed of five different well-known makes, will make stops throughout California.

"In traveling the same thousand mile route each day in the vicinity of our base our cars will, literally speaking, not be getting anywhere," Werne said. "Nevertheless, we do acquire accurate knowledge of how all makes of tires will perform under actual road conditions and in this way, claims for All-State are put to test before they are put to the customer."

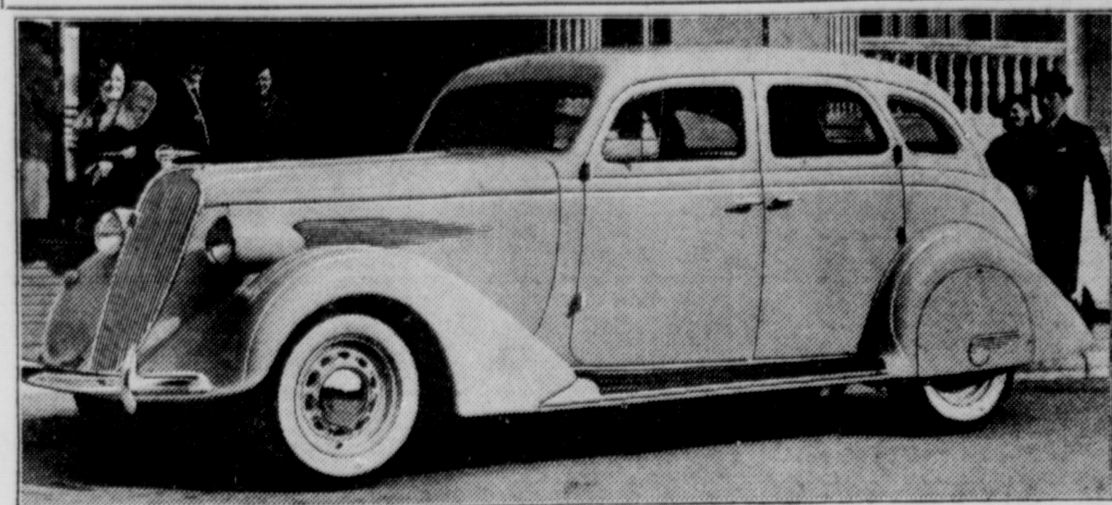

Except for stops to be made at 10-mile intervals to add to the braking wear on the tires being tested, three shifts of drivers have a mile a minute pace cut out for them through rain and shine, night and day for six months.

Mounted on the wheels of each of the cars in the test fleet will be four different makes of tires, including a Sears All-State. Once a day the tires will be switched to different wheels. Air pressure will be checked nine times a day. Sand bars, lead and scrap iron will be used to overload the cars from 20 to 25 per cent.

"It's perpetual motion for us," said Werne, "for when our Ohio tests are completed we will return to Arizona for the winter

CLASSIC LINES REFLECT NASH LUXURY

The new models of the Nash Ambassador series are superlative in motor car luxury with prices which formerly obtained in the smaller car field. With 123-inch wheelbase, automatic cruising gear available, synchronized springing and luxurious interior finish, the Ambassador challenges comparison with the highest priced cars, R. W. Townsend, local dealer, declares. Below is the Nash Ambassador, Super-8 Touring sedan.

OIL CHANGE IS POPULAR NEED SAYS HARNESS

Spring is something more than tulip-time—it is tune up time as well, according to Robert Harness, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company.

"Autoists in the West have thousands of scenic spots for summer outings and many miles of fine highways that make these spots accessible, so every driver wants his car to be in perfect condition in order to assure the most enjoyment from every trip," he says.

"The careful motorist always includes as the principal step in the spring tune-up a change of motor lubricant to the correct S. A. E. weight of oil for summer use. In changing to summer lubricants, the wise motorist knows the economy of good motor oil and only buys from reputable sources where he is sure of the quality. Hundreds of thousands of western car owners have learned from experience that Western Auto motor oils set the standard of quality in three price grades. Not only is the quality the finest, giving safer lubrication, but the prices are the lowest for comparable quality, assuring Western Auto customers of money saving values."

To improve the operation of the motor and assure the maximum of gasoline mileage, Harness urges car owners to have a competent mechanic tune up the engine. At this time it is advisable to have him replace worn spark plugs, ignition wires and points with new guaranteed equipment from Western Auto Supply company. The local store is at Second and Main.

LIBERAL OFFER MADE BY TIRE CONCERN HERE

Liberal credit is offered as one of the biggest features of the annual spring sale of the Goodrich Silvertown store, First and Broadway, according to Orval Lyon, manager, today. The plan makes it possible for motorists of Orange county to purchase the things they need for their automobiles with payments on budget basis.

"No longer need the car owner put off purchasing the equipment he needs for safe driving because he does not have ready cash available," Lyon says. "Our budget department is set up to enable motorists here to make their purchases at once and pay for their equipment in small stated amounts while it is being used."

Safety on the highways will be the principal theme throughout the spring sale, Lyon says. Many special offers of items designed to make the car safe for heavy summer driving are included in the sale.

"We feel our budget plan is a big contribution to the safety campaigns being conducted throughout the country. It makes it possible for a motorist to put his car in safe condition at once, and then pay for the material and service in small installments."

Some oranges turn green again after ripening.

SMART-LOOKING TITLE IS WON FOR LASALLE

A majority of motorists who replied to the latest automotive questionnaire circulated by the Customer research staff of General Motors voted LaSalle as the smartest-looking American car, according to C. O. Knox of Knox Brothers, local LaSalle and Cadillac dealers.

Probable reason for heavy voting on LaSalle is due to the beautiful, narrow V-type radiator, originally introduced by LaSalle, which, upon the specific question of radiators, received 30.8 per cent, or almost one-third of the total votes, Knox said. He believed there is a growing trend toward narrow radiators since but 21.3 per cent of the motorists voted for that design in a 1934 questionnaire sent out.

Streamlining of automobiles took an upward leap in popularity in the latest questionnaire, as 82.7 per cent of the motorists favored the streamline style; 84.6 per cent expressed favor in back-opening trunks and 67 per cent, in built-in trunk style. Hydraulic brakes were favored with an increase in votes from 61.4 per cent in the previous questionnaire, to 78 per cent in the latest survey. "This data reflect the preferences of owners in all price classes," Knox pointed out, "and generally speaking, the figures were higher among motorists constituting the Cadillac-LaSalle market."

No skating records for distances of six to ten miles have fallen since 1894. These are held by John Johnson, of Montreal.

George Preble is sent to the bench for questioning the vision of a Bernardino fan, only physical intervention on the part of Manager George Lackaye prevents Francis Conrad from climbing into the stands to deal with a heckling fan at Colton.

"The Stars are getting in shape faster than I thought," beams Manager Lackaye.

Derrill Cannon, the San Clemente trainer who is en route to Churchill Downs with Indian Brown, says flatly he believes his horse will win the Kentucky Derby.

"We are very confident," declares Trainer Cannon. "I know this horse can run a mile-and-an-eight in 1:50 with his Derby weight up. That last eighth won't bother him in the least. Have no worries about him going the distance or handling the Derby weight. Given a decent break in luck he'll win it."

Organized baseball says no club may "farm out" a player more than three times. . . so the major leagues "sell" to their chain clubs youngsters they want to retain when they've exhausted the legal number of options.

Thus, Catcher Willard Hershberger of Fullerton, finds himself once more in a Newark uniform. Newark is the property of the New York Yankees. The Yanks "farming" Hershberger to Hollywood once, to Newark twice. Now Hersh is being "sold" to Newark.

Impressed with the Santa Ana's size and speed, the Springfield, Mo. club of the Western Association has retained Glenn ("Babe") Gordon, bespectacled outfielder. Clarence Harris, Santa Ana first baseman, has been shipped out to Newport, Ark., which is in a Class D league. Both Springfield and Monette are in the St. Louis Cardinal chain. . . . Unaccounted for sprightly Frankie Oberlin, third baseman, who in first made a better showing in training than either big Gordon or rangy Harris.

DICKSON NO SHRINKING VIOLET

Europe's No. 1 Promoter to Introduce Bull-Fighting REPORTERS DROWNED IN WORDS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Colonel Jefferson Davis Dickson, the Legion of Honor ribbon adding a touch of color to his lapel, paused in New York long enough today to establish a new world's record for non-stop, free-style conversation.

Colonel Dickson, who stoutly maintains he was named for the president of the Confederacy and not the U. S. highway, is Europe's foremost promoter. Sports are his specialty, but he thinks nothing of combining a baby parade, a balloon ascension, and a heavy-weight fight, into one mammoth production. From New York the colonel will move on to Jackson, Miss., the place of his birth, for a two weeks rendezvous with hominy, black-eyed peas, ham hock, turnip greens and corn whiskey.

"There's nothing like Mississippi food," the colonel said as his man handed him his morning coat. "The French are fine cooks, yes, but the very fact that they refuse to cook their string beans with a chunk of salt meat or sow belly, proves they are lacking in distinction. And the continental wines! They are excellent, yes, but for real body, superb bouquet, and tonic properties, give me a slug of honest to goodness 'corn' at woodshed temperature."

The colonel was introduced to New York boxing society at a rye and ginger ale given by Mike Jacobs in the Broadway headquarters of his Twentieth Century Sporting Club. Before the colonel arrived Host Jacobs, always thoughtful, suggested to the reporters that the colonel, coming from a foreign land, probably would shy from being interviewed. "Don't expect him to talk freely at first," Jacobs said. "He'll probably be nervous. So you boys do the talking, and let him just answer."

Then Colonel Dickson, resplendent in everything that came to make a man resplendent, came in. From the second of his entrance he was as shy as a dance hall bouncer, as quiet as the Tower of Babel on New Year's eve. Beginning with a brief, 20-minute oration on the present political situation in Europe, he moved on to prizefighting, wrestling, bullfighting, ice skating, hockey, and a dozen other topics. The questions of the reporters were drowned in the wild sea of words that flowed from the colonel's mouth. Even Joe Jacobs, holder of three national jabber-and-chatter championships, found himself limited to nods of the head and an occasional grunt of assent.

That, without knowing whether Max Baer was really serious in his comeback plans, he had planned a series of fights for the Californian in England and France.

That bullfighting would be the next indoor sensation of France at the Paris Palais de Sport, counterpart of Madison Square Garden.

"I will make France bullfight conscious overnight," Colonel Dickson said. "My first show, featuring bulls and fighters from Madrid, will be a sensation. It will be held indoors, and at night, but the presence of tremendous floodlights will fool the bulls. I plan to kill four bulls a performance."

SCHOOL RECORD FALLS DESPITE SAINTS' ROUT

When Coach Reece Greene sent Santa Ana high school's entry list to Alhambra today for Saturday's all-Coast league track and field preliminaries, the name of Leonard (Len) Stafford appeared in capital letters.

Stafford shattered his own all-time Saint pole vault record yesterday when he cleared 12 feet, 8 1/2 inches in a dual meet at Long Beach, won by the Jackanabits, 90 to 23. The bar was set at 12:11 and the actual measurement showed 12:8 1/2.

Missing on his first two trials, Stafford also hit the cross-pole on his final effort but it remained in place—2 1/2 inches higher than any Saint vaulter had ever cleared.

Coach Greene forwarded an entry of 25 Class A, B and C athletes to the Coast league championships. The field will be reduced to six in every event for the finals May 2. The entries follow:

Class A: 100—Dillon Lutz; 220—Lutz; 440—Fred Pittenger; 880—Walter Opp; 1760—Bernie Granados; High jump—Bike Mercurio; Pole vault—Leonard Stafford.

COCHRANE'S STRAINED EYE GOOD ENOUGH TO SEE FLAG

Gordon Stanley Cochrane, the vice president, wears glasses while reading for the first time in his life, but Mickey Cochrane, the backstop, does not yet require glasses.

A majority of veteran baseball men consider Cochrane the greatest catcher of all time. Tyrus Raymond Cobb was one of the few outstanding stars who hustled down through the years as hard as the Detroit director.

Cochrane's handling of Robert Moses Grove, George Earnshaw, and "Rube" Walberg during his years in Philadelphia was a remarkable job of catching. Each of these standouts was a different type. The secret of the tremendous success of all three was pitching low. All three threw quick-breaking curves into the dirt.

Grove threw with a straight over-arm motion, with his fast ball hopping upward as it neared the plate.

BRIDGES HAS CURVE
Earnshaw tossed a heavy sinker. The swarthy man couldn't curb his windup. He took such a big pivot that Cochrane found it tough to throw out a base-stealer even though the large right-hander did not go through his entire pitching motion. It was while Earnshaw was pitching that "Pepper" Martin of the Cardinals ran his wildest in the 1931 world series.

Walberg threw his curve into the dirt and frequently was wild.

No catcher was ever more courageous at blocking runners at the plate than Cochrane. No catcher in the modern game could take throws that were off line and dive and tag the runner quite as well as Mickey Mike.

Asked to name the finest pitcher he ever caught, Cochrane parries with, "Well, I've got a couple of pretty fair ones on this Detroit club."

Cochrane refers to "Schoolboy" Rowe and Tommy Bridges, of course, but goes into ecstasies describing the Grove of 1930-31 and the Earnshaw of 1929-30-31, and the tone of his conversation reveals his pick. It is Grove. There is no mistake about that.

"But when it comes to curving that ball in the clinches, Bridges doesn't have to take off his hat to anybody," beams Mickey Mike. "He certainly rolled five or six of them right off the table after Stanley Hack tripped in the ninth in that world series payoff last fall."

Cochrane, now 33, is not only the executive head of the Detroit club, but he is a peerless leader on the field. The man from Bridgewater, Mass., calls every pitch and is a master at nursing. His judgment is rare and his strategic moves since assuming command of the Tigers two years ago repeatedly have

Cook Scratches Boyd From All-League 440

Seventeen men were picked by Tustin high but his failure to show consistent form this season is attributed to the fact that he is about 15 pounds over his running weight and cannot get into shape. Because of the absence of Koepsel, Santa Ana, will enter no sprinters. All Parr and Boyd are capable dashmen but Cook deems it wasteful to let them sacrifice their strength in the sprints thus nullifying their chances in their favorite events.

The complete Don entry list includes:

Relay—Tom Matzen, Major Anderson, Frank Ochoa, and Boyd; 440—M. Anderson; 880—Ochoa, Dave Clark; Mile—Joe Ochoa; Two-mile—Felix Ines Granados; High hurdles—Bob Reif, Bill Greshner, Boyd; Low hurdles—Boyd, Reif; Shot put—Greshner; Art Craft; Discus—Anderson, Craft; Javelin—Bob Clark; Broad jump—Willard Luten; Cameron Gillis; Pole vault—Jimmy Noe; High jump—George Griffith.

Two Don Regulars will be on the sidelines. Because of a heart ailment, Vernon Koepsel was forced out of competition last week. Bob Spray, lanky miler from Tustin, is the second clinder star who will view the extravaganza from the bleachers. Spray was consistent around 4:48 last year while attending

ST. MARY'S, U. S. F. QUARREL OVER DATES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—(UP)—New warfare between St. Mary's and University of San Francisco reportedly brewed today over use of Kezar stadium for football games scheduled Sunday, Sept. 27.

The new controversy was said to have been precipitated when Fresno State college officials informed U. S. F. that the Sunday date, previously considered unacceptable because of opposition to Sunday football, has received official sanction.

St. Mary's is scheduled to meet Gonzaga here on the same date. U. S. F. it was said, holds a contract with the stadium management and therefore priority.

SCHMELING IS CONFIDENT OF BEATING LOUIS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Max Schmeling, the Black Uhlan of the Rhine, is in town and has the situation well in hand.

Totally, that is. Time may have pugged up his jaws a bit, and taken a bit of the spring from his walk, but it has left his vocal cords unscarred. From the minute he popped from his stateroom on the Bremen to greet the hundred or more intrepid Broadwayites who sailed down to quarantine to meet him, until he was tucked safely away in his hotel suite, he talked a great fight.

Veteran fight critics who have been going down the bay to meet Max for the past seven or eight years (and also to enjoy the rich and creamy Pilsner the line dispensers to the press in the ship's nursery as the boat loafs into the harbor) agreed he had never been in better voice.

Whistling Past Graveyard
In fact, as they swaggered down the grandstand trying to look as if they had come all the way from Germany, and not just a few miles past the Statue of Liberty, they endorsed his talk as the most finished bit of whistling past the graveyard since Max Baer, speaking from under his bed in his Speculator retreat, promised to chill Joe Louis with one mighty punch.

Schmeling said he positively would knock out Louis on the night of June 18. Moreover, he called the winning shot—a short right hand to the countenance.

He said it wouldn't travel far—just the same sort of jolting punch that harrassed poor Willie Stripling at Cleveland, and made a sickening sight of Mickey Walker's classic features.

The boys were inclined to discount his calling the shot, however, for as they pointed out, he had to call a right hand shot or no shot at all, being as that is strictly all he has. Max said he had made up his own mind about Louis after seeing the moving pictures of Joe's fight with Carnera, and watching, with his own eyes Joe's execution of Paulino. He said Joe not only didn't know the proper technique of throwing a right hand punch, but was also a sucker for one.

Scribe Asks Tactless Question
One reporter was tactless enough to ask Max how it was that Louis, if he was a clumsy oaf at right-hand pitching, managed to stiffen Paulino with that sort of curve, when he (Schmeling) failed to do the same thing in more than 40 rounds of target practice with the old Basque. Fortunately, for the more sensitive souls of the boxing set, Host Joe Jacobs passed a drink at this point, and Schmeling didn't have to answer.

Listening to Schmeling on his soap box, I couldn't help contrasting his loquacity with the taciturnity of Louis. Ask Joe in a crowd what he expects to do to an opponent, and he never knows. Ask him alone, and if tell you in the sign language of a man who doesn't care much for talking. He'll use his fingers. One for the first round, two for the second, three for the third. And it's amazing how close he has come to calling his shots. Not quite as accurately as did the big man Ruth on that sunny afternoon in Chicago, when the taunts of the Cubs got under his thick skin, but nearly. And you'd be surprised to know the numbers of fingers Joe held up when he was asked about—no, not Schmeling, but Jim Braddock. I'll give you a hint: Take a number from one to ten, then subtract—

Dog Track to Be 'Dark' Indefinitely

Business Manager E. S. Sullivan said today that Orange County Downs would remain closed indefinitely, pending a reorganization of the backers of the dog track located at the former Orange County Fair grounds.

Sullivan vigorously denied that he or other officials of the plant were "in hiding." General Manager R. B. Rawlins is in Los Angeles, Sullivan said, and will return here in a day or two to take care of any obligations.

"Whether Orange County Downs reopens depends entirely on Mr. Rawlins," Sullivan added. "At present, however, weather conditions are not suitable for night racing."

Sullivan denied he had been "advised" to close either by the district attorney or the sheriff's office.

FLOYD BLOWER MAY QUIT CAL. FOR 'GOOD JOB'

If a good job comes his way, Santa Ana's Floyd Blower may quit University of California and not return for his last year of football next fall.

"As things look now, I intend to return for football but if a good job comes along, or some other inducement, I might change my mind," the star Bear halfback told relatives here.

Blower is recovering from an operation to relieve a leg muscle injury suffered last season in the Oregon game. He is still on crutches.

Parker's Three Homers Fail To Beat Saints

Despite three home runs by Roy Parker, Valencia outfielder, Santa Ana high school's baseball team managed to eke out a 9-8 decision over Coach Clarence Bishop's Bengals at Placentia yesterday.

Parker guided circuit balls off Pitcher Lewis Olivias in the second, fourth and sixth, and Jamez also contributed a four-ply drive, but fortunately for the Saint cause the bases were sparsely populated each time.

Santa Ana won with a two-run rally in the last inning, turning almost certain defeat into victory. Duane Teel walked, Joe Kadowaki was hit by a pitched ball and Norman Wyckoff blasted a triple to score 'em both.

R. K. O. STUDIO TEAM TO PLAY HERE TUESDAY

Manager George Lackaye said today he would groom Outfielder Al Reboin, leading hitter of the National Night Ball league, as the No. 2 pitcher for Santa Ana's Stars this season.

If he "cuts the mustard," Reboin will take the place of Lyle Morse, who is scheduled to leave for Porterville either tomorrow or Friday. Morse wants a better job than he has now to remain with the club and Star officials say they haven't been able to find him one. Morse says the Porterville post will pay him $100 a month.

Reboin will get his pitching baptism Friday night when the Santa Anas wind up four successive road games at Riverside. Lackaye said Reboin would start on the mound and go at least four innings—"win, lose or draw."

Pitching is not altogether a novelty for the versatile Don coach. He was rated as the best softball gunner at the University of Southern California two years ago, and at the end of last season appeared in the box several times for the Stars, showing considerable ability.

George Stevens, second stringer for the club last year, may be released "under option" to the Olive club, Lackaye said, especially if Reboin makes good as a thrower. Stevens turned in a four-hit game for Olive last night.

One of the outstanding softball teams in Los Angeles, R.K.O. Studios, will invade the Municipal Bowl next Tuesday night when the Stars return home for the first time since April 14.

The moviemake take the place of Colton on the schedule.

R. K. O. is in the powerful McLaughlin Field league, and has rounded up the best talent available in Los Angeles.

The conflict will give Orange county fans their first chance to compare National and McLaughlin field teams.

The studio promises to bring here at least one outstanding film actress for a "personal appearance."

Leavitt Daley, the Dizzy Dean of the National Night league, was back at his WPA job here today and apparently ready to rejoin the Anaheim Valets. Daley had been variously reported as in Oakland and Porterville.

Readily indicating the caliber of the Santa Ana City league champions, Manager Ken Miller's Elks turned back Westminster of the Na-

COUNTY BOARD DELAYS REPLY TO WPA QUERY

The Orange county supervisors have been asked by WPA whether WPA is solving the unemployment problem, whether the WPA projects are of value, and whether more WPA projects are necessary.

But the supervisors are not yet ready to answer. When the written questions were received by the supervisors at their meeting late yesterday, they decided to defer their answer until after the convention of the state supervisors association next month.

They apparently felt it wise to talk the matter over with other supervisors of the state before going on record. The three questions were addressed to the board by George White, district manager of WPA, at San Diego.

"Gly-Cas did not nauseate me as so many medicines had, but went right to the source of my health troubles," continued Mr. Jones. "For fifteen years indigestion and constipation had filled my entire system with poisons until my whole body seemed to be wearing out. Most of my foods would disagree with me, lost my appetite and often after eating I would have such severe pains through my sides and chest that it made breathing almost impossible. Then, too, my kidneys would not allow me a good night's sleep, was tired and worn-out all of the time and felt listless, sluggish and lacked the energy to get about. It was many miserable years I spent doing my best to get relief but meeting only with repeated failure until I began Gly-Cas. I can say without the least hesitation that Gly-Cas has done wonders for me."

"I am now in the best health I have been in years," continued Mr. Jones. "Those pains in my side have left entirely and I can eat and enjoy the foods I wish without that awful distress afterwards. I sleep fine, my appetite is fast returning, and my kidneys are now functioning normally again. It is wonderful what a single medicine like Gly-Cas can do — it seems like herbal remedy has just what all other medicines lack."

So it goes — another case right here in Santa Ana where Gly-Cas has accomplished the seemingly impossible.

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the McCoy Drug Co., No. 6, at 108 West Fourth Street, this city, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this new herbal remedy.

JIMMY FIDLER in -HOLLYWOOD-

HOLLYWOOD—Memories, that of those confounded twisted cords bless and burn. When Rudolph Valentino, in a sensational streak of luck, won $265,000 shooting dice on location. Most of it was 100's from members of the company.

Valentino threw the batch in to the campfire and said: "Forget it." When Poli Negri pointed out to a friend a corner lot she thought she had purchased. She was pointing on the wrong street; her own lot later sold for $50,000 profit, and the one she thought was hers never gained in value. When Charles "Buddy" Rogers broke down and cried because he lost the role of the young brother in "Beau Geste," then married to John Gilbert, returned to work after the birth of their daughter, and insisted on a contract clause permitting her to pause at four o'clock each afternoon to nurse her baby. When Wallace Reid bet $100 he could quit smoking suddenly. He won the bet—and called a meeting of the boulevard newsboys, among whom he divided the money. When Gloria Swanson, on a wager that studio casting directors could not recognize talent, donned an astonishing makeup and applied to seven studios for work. No casting director recognized her; not one held out hope of a job—and Gloria was drawing $15,000 a week at the time.

Barbara Stanwyck is blossoming into one of the most popular town belles since her divorce from Frank Fay. This is well, because Fay too has hit a high stride since the separation. I am one of the many who believe these two may eventually return together. While Barbara was Mrs. Fay, she was second only to Greta Garbo as a recluse. She and Frank rarely visited the night spots, and she less often than he. Now, how different! She has become one of the gayest of the gay; she is much sought after as a companion; she has budded as one of the colony's best dressed women. She seems to thoroughly enjoy this new-found freedom of play, and for the first time in her life, Barbara is having her fling. Play was denied her as a girl. Not only was she extremely poor, but she was in her teens when she married Fay, and she missed completely that dance-late-flirt-some period that rightfully belongs to every young girl.

Improvement Program For Irvine Park Is Planned

COUNTY JOINS GOVERNMENT IN WPA PROJECT

Improvement and expansion of facilities at Irvine park, to accommodate the tremendous crowds that gather there on Sundays and holidays from all parts of Southern California was undertaken yesterday when the county supervisors approved a $70,000 project in co-operation with the federal government.

Extension of roads and trails through the park, and a planting program will be covered by the WPA project, calling for a total expenditure of $70,000, of which $57,420 will be provided by WPA and $12,580 by the county, as sponsor's contribution.

Work will be provided for a crew of 60 men over a period of ten months, it was stated. Some of the men are already at work.

Necessity for the project was decided by the showing of a traffic census taken at Irvine park on Easter Sunday, when 14,542 persons visited the popular resort. This report, compared with an Easter check on traffic at the park two years ago, showed a substantial gain in attendance.

The check also showed that more than 57 per cent of park visitors came from outside of Orange county, chiefly from the Los Angeles and Long Beach areas.

ORANGE COUNTY RANKS HIGH IN BEE INDUSTRY

With its 9100 colonies of bees producing 947,200 pounds of honey last year, Orange county went into ninth place in the honey production industry in California, according to a report recently submitted to apiculturists by County Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

Los Angeles county led with 35,800 colonies and 2,944,030 pounds of honey; San Diego second with 28,000 colonies and 4,200,000 pounds; Riverside third with 23,100 colonies and 1,755,500 pounds; San Bernardino fourth with 21,500 colonies and 1,591,000 pounds; Imperial fifth with 14,000 colonies and 720,000 pounds; Fresno sixth with 13,600 colonies and 1,300,000 pounds; Ventura seventh with 11,500 colonies and 920,000 pounds; San Joaquin eighth with 10,000 colonies and 600,000 pounds; Orange ninth with 9100 colonies and 947,200 pounds.

LeRoy Bell, Orange beekeeper, was host to the large group at his Katella apiary. He demonstrated his double hives which he has increased in number during recent years. Gerald Twombly of Fullerton demonstrated a new method of removing bees from the frames prior to extraction by the carbolic acid gas method.

Other speakers included Frank Todd, Pacific Bee Culture Laboratory at Davis; C. E. Lush, Orange; A. K. Whidden, Riverside; and R. K. Bishop, Orange county apiary inspector. H. J. Crawford, Olive, presided at the field meeting.

SHOPPING IN JERUSALEM IS DISCUSSED BY S. A. WOMAN

(Editor's Note: The following article is another in the series being written by the Rev. and Mrs. Ted Jackman, who now are in Palestine after a long journey from Santa Ana. This article was written for The Register by Mrs. Jackman.)

Many books have been written about Jerusalem, covering practically every subject imaginable but I have never seen an article written about the shops. Perhaps the men will not be interested, but I am sure that every woman in America will be delighted to hear about shopping in Jerusalem.

To shop in the old city is most fascinating. We enter through Joffa gate and start down David street which is the principal street of the old city. This narrow street is not more than eight feet wide and is more like a wide stairway than a street. It is crowded with people and animals and lined with tiny shops where the natives purchase their foodstuffs. Here are meat and vegetable markets displaying all manner of edibles.

We stop at one little stall where the merchant sits cross-legged before his supplies. He wears a red turban and dress of striped heavy cloth, held together by a wide girdle around his waist. On his feet he has huge shoes made of rough leather and soled with cast off automobile tires. Before him is an Arab Bedouin woman screaming and waving her hands. She is bargaining for a huge cauliflower that measures at least 12 inches across.

To a stranger it sounds as if a war were about to be waged between the two but it is really the usual method of shopping and soon a peaceful agreement is reached. Handing the merchant two piasters she lifts the cauliflower to a basket, places that on her head, and starts off down the street. Her dress is black, embroidered heavily in red and yellow. She is barefooted and dirty but on her head she wears a circlet of coins which serve both as ornament and dowry.

Many Vegetables
The merchant sells many other vegetables besides cauliflower. Cabbage, vegetable marrow (called Kusa), tomatoes and other local vegetables raised for the most part in the Kedron valley which is watered by the city sewerage and therefore very fertile soil. Potatoes, egg plant and other well known vegetables are sold, which are either local grown or shipped in from Egypt. His stock of fruits includes the Joffa orange, the principal product of Palestine and superior to even the famous California orange in size and quality, and sweet dates from Iraq, and usually Oregon apples.

He has a stock of canned goods that resembles a page from a geography book. Here one sees canned milk from Holland, butter from Australia, cereal from England, canned soups from the United States, corned beef from South America, peanuts from Sudan, tea from Ceylon, dried fruits from Damascus and in fact nearly every country is represented. The stocks of local products are olives, which are not cured as we cure them at home and taste very bitter, goat butter and goat cheese, many Arabic sweets and dishes which I have no idea how to describe.

Meats Displayed
The meat market next door has six or eight halves of sheep hung up in front of the store. Mutton is the principal meat sold and great quantities are carried into market every morning by little boys who carry the whole sheep which has just been killed and skinned.

In Jerusalem as in many other eastern cities all the stores of one kind are found together. Thus one sees in the Souks streets devoted to meat markets, grocery stores, etc., while in another street there is the cloth bazaar. It is not hard to find the right color or material for many lovely pieces of wool and silk are to be had. Much of the silk comes from Japan and India, the wool from Persia and Damascus. There is little here that Europeans can use but it is interesting to watch both men and women come to purchase their needed supplies.

For the tourist great interest is found in the silver bazaar. Here the natives make by hand the most delicate silver filigree work. Fine brooches, bracelets, rings, etc. are made with infinite care and although the methods are crude the finished products are lovely. Stones from Persia are sometimes set in the rings and pines, and coral and topaz are often used.

In the old city too one finds the olive wood products that are so famous in Palestine. The wood is cut and polished by hand and such articles as vases, photo album covers, trinket boxes of various sizes, and trays, etc. are sold but the most popular are the New Testaments with olive wood covers. Brass work is good in Jerusalem. The Palestinians use many vessels of brass and for the tourist there is the inlaid table top, Turkish coffee sets, etc. These are only a few of the things to be found in the old part of the city, but some space must be devoted to shopping in new Jerusalem or that part of the city outside the walls, which is not the principal Jewish and foreign section.

Changes Are Seen
Mark Twain said that east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet, but I believe that he would change his words if he saw the great miracle that is taking place in this twentieth century Jerusalem. Within the walls is a city of the East, outside the walls is a new western city. In 1933 when I visited Jerusalem the principal shops were stocked with merchandise to sell the tourist and rather poorly displayed at that. Now one finds almost everything that can be purchased anywhere else in the world.

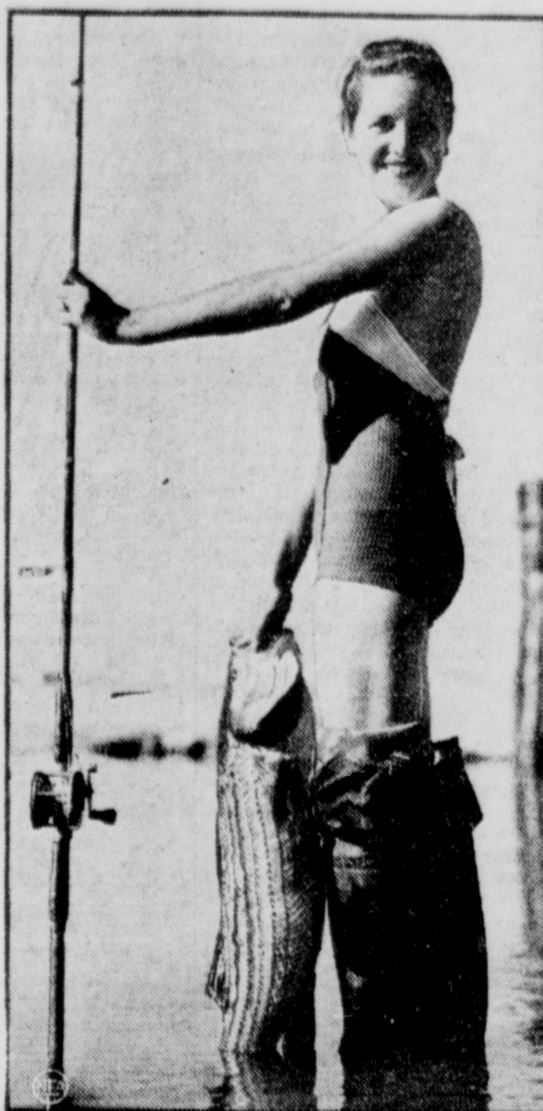

There are many Jews returning from Germany who have established splendid, well-stocked stores. There are the toy shops and furniture equal to any display of American firms. Ladies dress shops, with styles that tempt any woman. There is an absence of department stores as we know them and none of the concerns are very large. The main shopping street of new Jerusalem is Joffa Road where nearly every type of merchandise can be purchased. Tea and coffee shops, bakeries and confectioners furnish the afternoon refreshments to the shopper. The famous embroidery done by the women of Ramal and Bethlehem is now obtainable in blouses and dresses, kimono and other articles that the tourist can really wear.

For those interested in antique many things can be found. Lamps made like small dishes which date back thousands of years, old coins with inscriptions of Roman emperors, old swords and armor dating from the time of the Crusaders and many other things the antique dealer will show the prospective buyer.

Palestine famous for hand work and handicrafts, yet now fast becoming a leading country in modern wares. Palestine manufactures many things which were imported until recently, and shop-

TO PRESENT BULLDOG MEDAL FOR LIFE-SAVING SATURDAY

Arrangements were completed today for staging a public ceremony when the Latham Foundation for Promotion of Human Education medal for heroism is presented to Sir Buddy Gamin, gallant and intelligent French bulldog who saved the life of his mistress, Mrs. Earl B. Hawks, 1319 South Main street, Santa Ana.

Charles D. Ocain, president of the Orange County Humane Society, who is in charge of arrangements for the medal presentation, announced today that the presentation will be made at ceremonies open to the public Saturday afternoon in the Neal Sporting Goods store at 209 East Fourth street. Arrangements are being made to have Mayor Fred C. Rowland present the medal on behalf of the Humane Society.

Mrs. T. J. Neal has arranged to have Sir Buddy at the store all day Saturday and also will have an array of other French bulldogs on display. Baroness Lucienne St. Mart, French woman famous for her animal paintings, will exhibit her pictures, featuring French bulldogs. Another event planned for the day will be shows at 1 and 4 p. m. by trained Doberman Pinschers, trained by Clay H. Williams of the Kurtiska Kennels west of Santa Ana, it was announced today by Ocain.

Climaxes Celebration
Presentation of the medal, the exhibit of blue-blooded dogs, the paintings display and trained dog shows will climax the celebration of Be Kind to Animals Week here, and hundreds of animal lovers are expected to attend the events.

Following the intelligent act of Sir Buddy in saving Mrs. Hawks from death by suffocation by gas, Ocain wrote to the Latham Foundation at Oakland, sending clippings from The Register telling the story. Edith Latham, president of the Foundation, enthusiastically agreed that the medal should be presented. The medal is here now, waiting to be presented to Sir Buddy Saturday afternoon.

lywood who will have with him his constant companion and pal, "Kentucky Boy," well-known dog hero.

Expect Big Crowd
As this is a part of the humane education work being carried on all over the nation this week, it is earnestly hoped that a large attendance of school children and grown-ups interested in humane work will be present. This society believes that by teaching the children to be kind and merciful to animals means the building of better men and women of the future. In that spirit of service to man and animal, the Humane Education association is bringing to our minds anew this message of kindness to animals and a greater humanity to man, it was stated.

Attention was called to a special "Be Kind to Animals" display now in the windows of Vandermaast's, Inc., at Fourth and Broadway.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves
It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to relieve itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This internal medicine acts quickly even in old stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it helps to heal and restore the affected parts and relieves blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting often fail. All druggists say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must relieve you of your Pile misery or money back—Adv.

HUMANE GROUP PLANS EVENT FOR THURSDAY

Three Guests Included For Club Luncheon

With the approach of summer months and their invitation to beach and mountain outings and travel trails in general, members of the Tuesday luncheon club, knowing full well that there will be a vacation interruption to their monthly sessions, are arranging for two hostesses to join in giving each of the remaining parties of the season. Yesterday this plan had pleasant application in the R. S. Chandler home, 302 South Birch street, where Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Will A. Flood received the members.

With all the flowers of a lavish spring at their command, the hostesses demonstrated their artistry in arrangement of the blossoms as a fragrant accompaniment to the luncheon hour and its subsequent contract sessions.

Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon were absent, and since Mrs. Chandler did not play during the afternoon, three guests were entertained. Mrs. Charles V. Davis, Mrs. Fred Chapman and Mrs. Mark Lacy. The hostesses received also Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mrs. Margaret Borgeymer, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMillen, Mrs. R. C. Holmes, Mrs. Horace B. Van Dine, Mrs. Z. Bertrand West and Mrs. Howard Rapp.

German Club Welcomes Former Santa Ana Home From Trip

Mrs. Margaret Buchtel, of La Jolla, former Santa Ana, who returned recently from extensive travels, was guest of honor Monday night when the Deutsche Verein club members were entertained in the home of Mrs. Marie K. Liebermann, 612 French street. The Misses Gretchen and Agnes Liebermann were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Buchtel, who left Santa Ana last September, told of her trip to Denver, Colo., where she was present for opening of a boulevard dedicated to the memory of her late father-in-law. She spent some time at the Mayo Brothers' clinic, where her son is a member of the staff; and visited in Washington, D. C., with another son who is a physician. Her visits to Congress and to the supreme court were described. She made the return trip by boat and spent some time in Mexico City.

The honor guest's daughter, Mrs. George Hayden, of La Jolla, formerly of Santa Ana, was present for the club party. Others in the group were the teacher, Miss Helena Christensen, and Dr. R. E. Waters, Mrs. Marie K. Liebermann, Mrs. Catherine Schmiedeburg and son Leo; Little Margaret Ann Schmiedeburg, Mrs. Grace Berk, Mrs. E. S. Sparks, Spurgeon Sparks, Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, the Misses Gretchen and Agnes Liebermann.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Walbridge.

Africa Provides Theme For Section Speaker

Life in British East Africa was described by Mrs. M. Northrup Wyatt Monday afternoon when she was guest speaker at a meeting of Junior Ebell Household Economics section in the home of Mrs. Le Roy Burns, 1420 South Parton street. Mrs. Carl Elliott was co-hostess.

Mrs. Robert Heffner and Miss Nan Mead poured tea during the refreshment interval.

Present, in addition to Mrs. Wyatt and the hostesses were Mesdames Bruce Harding, Lee Smith, Q. L. Hardy, Pomeroy, C. B. McKinney, Robert Heffner, Robert Watson, George Bradley and the Misses Nan Mead and Elizabeth Smith.

The next meeting will be a luncheon, May 18, in the home of Mrs. Charles Weber, Buena Vista.

Many Chairmen Devote Attention To Plans For Garden Tour

As plans progress for the Y. W. annual garden tour, scheduled for this coming Saturday afternoon, there are many interesting developments, according to Mrs. Fred Forgy, to whom has been delegated responsibilities of the general chairmanship.

One of these developments is the interest manifested by Los Angeles residents, who have been eager to learn the date selected for this affair. Each year since the tour was first introduced, there have been many guests from Los Angeles who have enjoyed the round of Santa Ana's lovely gardens no less than have local folk. It is anticipated that there will be a number from that city to join Saturday's tour.

Mrs. John Ball is aiding in arranging the itinerary to be followed, and which this year, will take the guests to many of the city's intimate small gardens, where careful planning in more or less limited space, will be exemplified. After a survey of the various beauty spots, guests may linger for tea in the garden of the Heber Fowler home, 615 West Santa Clara avenue. Mrs. J. T. Wilson and Mrs. F. P. Jayne will be tea hostesses, under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. E. Bressler.

Other committee chairmen who are offering fine co-operation in the various phases of the tour are Miss Lena Thomas, in charge of tickets; Miss Mary Bruner, publicity; Miss Mary Howard and Mrs. J. C. Gardner, finance; and Mrs. Horace J. Howard, transportation. Miss Hazel Remus and Miss Lucinda Griffith took charge of the posters, and young people of their art classes have developed some clever designs. Girl Reserves will give assistance in placing the flags which indicate gardens to be visited.

Young Couple Inspire Post-Nuptial Shower

Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Harman, who recently announced their marriage of last December, were complimented at a shower given Saturday evening in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Harman, 1516 North Flower street. The bride is the former Miss Vivian Fraser.

Miss Floretta Harman joined her parents in entertaining. Many flowers brightened rooms where tables were set up for card play. Prizes were won by Miss Norma Fraser and Mrs. Bryan Harman, who held high and low scores in bridge; Ellis Drake and Laurel Camp, high and low scores in pinocle.

Mrs. Martha Starke was at the piano, playing popular music at intervals during the evening. Refreshments were served. The honored young people were showered with miscellaneous gifts.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Bryan K. Harman, Ray Fraser, Ellis Drake, Laurel Camp and daughter, Betty Lee, J. A. Harman, W. P. Harman, O. A. Harman, Mrs. Francis Simonsen and daughter, Joyce; Mrs. Martha Starke, Mrs. Arthur Nies, the Misses Evelyn Arthur Nies, the Misses Evelyn Batchelor, Tillie Bady, Lola Ma Harman, Be Evelyn Harman, Master Samuel Harman, Master Earl Harman, Messrs. Fred Mangold, Charles Opalenick, Clyde Harman, with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harman and Miss Floretta Harman.

Seven-year Old Boy Has Gay Birthday

Celebrating his seventh birthday anniversary, Dick Moomaw was host last week to a group of his classmates from the first grade at Edison school. He received the merry group of friends in the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moomaw, 1901 South Van Ness avenue.

Club Group Welcomes Former Member With Impromptu Party

An impromptu meeting of Quill Pen club members Monday night in the home of Mrs. Frank W. 617 Orange avenue, was inspired by the brief visit in the Southland of a former club member, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, now of Ukiah.

The majority of Quill Pen folk were able to accept the invitation of Mrs. W. for this gay reunion meeting. Although it was not planned until Monday when it was discovered that Mrs. Cushman would not be here for the regular meeting on April 27.

There was a slight attempt at having a program, although Mrs. J. U. Viaw brought a story which was discussed and analyzed at length. But the evening was devoted in the main to chat of former associations and hearing about Mrs. Cushman's northern home and the progress of her work since she opened law offices in Cloverdale. Mrs. W. was assisted by Mrs. Roy Winchester, served a variety of cakes, salted nuts and candies with tea.

Choice roses and great spikes of iris blossoms in a variety of delicate shades of color, were brought by Miss Lella Watson, and one especially beautiful cluster of Belle of Portugal roses was presented Mrs. Cushman.

Another interesting guest was Mrs. M. Northrup Wyatt, who earlier that evening had addressed Business and Professional Woman at their dinner meeting in the Doris Kathryn. Present in addition to the hostess, the two guests, Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Wyatt, were Miss Lella Watson, Miss Verna Wells, Miss Mildred Watson, Mesdames Roy Winchester, Marshall Hignols, Blanche Brown, S. B. Marshall, J. D. Campbell, J. U. Viaw, N. E. Wells, Frank Wilsey, Marsh Adams and Emmett Elliott.

Harmony Bridge Club

Both dining room and lounge of Masonic temple offered setting yesterday afternoon for a pleasant affair when Harmony Bridge club entertained 80 members and guests at a dessert bridge party. Tables were decorated with pastel-shaded sweet peas, the gift of Mrs. Alex Rez.

Fruit salad, cake and coffee were served, after which guests sought the lounge for contract and auction bridge sessions. Prizes in contract went to Mrs. Ada Perkins, first; Mrs. Katherine Reed, second, and Miss Margaret Sawyer, third. Auction prizes went to Mrs. Louise Horian, first; Mrs. John Bruns, second, and Mrs. Charles Riggs, third. Gifts were bright hued pottery. The door prize, an oil painting, was awarded Mrs. Jennie Shippe.

Mesdames Sue Henry, Della Maude Ryan, Virginia Holmes, Jennie Shippe, Florence Wright and Henrietta Roberts comprised the refreshment committee, while Mesdames Pearl Lyan, Jennie Shippe and Betty Godey presided during card play.

Ebell Group Produces Its Own Reviewer For Program

It was with a distinct sense of pride in the ability of one of their own members, that Junior Ebell Book Reviewers last night heard a concise and illuminating summary of two recent books, given by Mrs. Albert Harvey. The occasion was the section's April meeting with Mrs. Francis Horton on Bush street.

Mrs. Horton had the co-operation of a hostess group composed of Mesdames Chester Horton, Russell Sullivan and Gail Jordan, in arranging the meeting, and in such details as flowers gracing her home, and inviting refreshments served at the evening's close when hot ice cream roll, cookies, tea and coffee were enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. Harvey opened her review with "The Next Hundred Years" by C. C. Furness, but devoted the greater part of her talk to Negley Farson's "The Way of the Transgressor." She compared this sparkling account of travels with its autobiographical trend, to some of the books by Richard Halliburton, explaining that it was in much the same enthusiastic tempo, but was definitely of more literary value than the Halliburton books. Some of the various conclusions were given emphasis by excerpts read from the book.

Mrs. Robert Guild directed the business meeting, during which the section's sports dance on May 16 was discussed. Mrs. Guild and Mrs. George Walker were responsible for choosing a place for the anticipated party, and secured Lido Isle clubhouse. Miss Betty Wiswall will have tickets in charge, and these are to be distributed at a very nominal price, at the general meeting of Junior Ebell society on May 5.

This section will bring its year's activities to a close on May 19 when Mrs. Thoburn White has placed her delightful home on Balboa island at the convenience of the hostesses. The group will comprise the Misses Ann Tarver, Harriet Gruettner, Mesdames Hubert Gohres, James Walker, Burt Frederick Zaiser, Oliver Lindemeyer and James Workman. Election of officers will be the sole business feature and the remainder of the time will be devoted to beach sports, bridge or the fancy of the moment.

Last night's hostess group entertained in addition to the speaker, Mrs. Harvey, Mesdames Lawrence Ramey, Crawford Nalle, Herbert Stroeheim, Hubert Gohres, Thoburn White, Raymond Terry, Stanley Norton, Frederick Elliott, George Walker, Charles McDaniel, Harold Dale, Alvin Stauffer, Miss Harriet Gruettner and Miss Betty Wiswall.

Club Members Hear Fascinating Speaker

Fascinating account of her recent three-year stay in Kenya, British East Africa, was given by Mrs. M. Northrup Wyatt last night at a weekly dinner meeting of Wrycende Maegden club in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

The speaker took her interested listeners from England, on the voyage to Africa. The trip back into the upland realms of Kenya, the British colony, was vividly described. Her contacts with the Europeans, and with the natives as well, proved valuable and pleasant throughout the three-year stay. It was pointed out, Mrs. Wyatt illustrated her talk with maps and pictures.

Miss Rowena Newcomb, club president, conducted a short business meeting. Miss Mary Ford gave first reading of amendments to be made to the constitution in regard to officers and their duties. It was voted to send Mrs. William Fritchler to Colorado Springs as a delegate to the national Y. W. C. A. convention to be held April 29 to May 6.

Announcement was made of the garden tour to be given Saturday under auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

Group Enjoys New Motor Highway

The Misses Mary Hilyard, Lula Ott, Ruth Clark, Marie Smith, Gertrude Cravath, Mrs. Cora Bower, Mrs. Odessa Miller and Mrs. Florence Eiken comprised a party enjoying an interesting week-end trip to "Ewitzer-Land" and Mount Wilson.

The party left Santa Ana Saturday afternoon and remained overnight in one of the cabin groups at "Switzer-Land" in the mountain country beyond Sierra Madre. On Sunday morning they took the recently opened Angeles Crest highway directly to Mount Wilson, finding it an unexampled road both in point of construction and in scenic values. All returned enthusiastic over the possibilities of the outing as one to be enjoyed again either at a week-end or on a single day.

Suburban Home Is Rendezvous Of Club Group

Contract club guests yesterday of Mrs. Cood Adams could understand why gardens of her home in Tustin were to be included on the Y. W. garden tour of Saturday, when they saw the flowers that garlanded the home in preparation for the hospitality.

These were all culled from the lovely garden, and offered a charming and fragrant setting indeed for the afternoon's contract games. Roses predominated in the decorative scheme, but there were countless other blossoms, including an oriental hop vine whose flowering sprays trailed from baskets placed in the dining room.

Mrs. Adams had prepared a luscious gingerbread topped with fluffy mountains of whipped cream, to be served with coffee as a dessert, course preliminary to play. She had invited three guests, Mrs. Roland Kloess, Mrs. Anna Bowman and Mrs. Lynn L. Ostrander, to substitute for three absent members, Mrs. Clyde Walker, Mrs. W. T. Lambert and Mrs. C. J. Fleming.

Mrs. Ostrander made the afternoon's high score, and received first prize with second prize won by Mrs. Asa Hoffman.

Present in addition to the three special guests were Mesdames C. E. Erwin, Asa Hoffman, Frank Hoffman, Edward Walker, Alvin Nowotny, W. S. Salisbury, Howard Stone, Tarver Montgomery, and the hostess, Mrs. Adams.

Yellow and white tapers and favors appointed two large tables where luncheon was served to precede other events of the afternoon. Mrs. Jack Clayton of Orange was speaker, telling of her recent travels around the world.

Other out of town guests present with Mrs. Clayton were two charter members of chapter G. J. P. E. O., Mrs. Betty Elmore of Alhambra and Mrs. Raymond Wagner of Long Beach, with Mrs. Buell of Tacoma, Wash., visiting P. E. O. member.

Mrs. John Webster of Costa Mesa presided over the program. During a business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Clarence Bond, annual reports were given.

The next meeting will be held May 6 in the home of Mrs. S. A. Moore of this city.

Sorority Installation Featured at Annual Business Meeting

Summer plans of Sigma chapter members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority are not as yet fully completed, but with memories of previous summers in their chapter cottage at one of the nearby beaches to inspire them, there is little doubt but that the members will plan something equally pleasant for this year.

Formal meetings will be discontinued until autumn, when programs and study will be resumed under the new official board installed so recently. This installation was an impressive ceremony conducted by Miss Lucile McDermott as the final duty of her interesting year in the presidency.

The home of Mrs. Frank Morrison (Ione Hansen) on South Van Ness avenue was setting for the important session when Miss McDermott surrendered the gavel of her office to Miss Katherine Spicer. Other officers installed with Miss Spicer were Miss Elsie Siemsen, vice president; Miss Mary Louise Wallace, recording secretary; Miss Mildred Staples, corresponding secretary; Miss Marie LaBrucherie, treasurer; Miss Lillie Forsberg, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Stephenson, parliamentarian.

Installation rites, conducted with more ceremony, were followed by a more informal social hour during which refreshments were served by a committee composed of the Misses Lillian McDonald, chairman; Delphina Lopez, Isabel Siracusa, Elsie Siemsen and Hazel Lee.

Santa Ana Visitor Makes Cherry Pie For President

Frequent visitors in this community are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cummings of Fort Collins, Colo., who each year spend some time here with the family of their daughter, Mrs. Raymond West of Wess avenue, Tustin, and have made a host of friends.

Mr. Cummings is representative from northern Colorado and as such spends much of his time in Washington. Their friends here will be interested in the fact that Mrs. Cummings recently made and presented to President Roosevelt a special pie, made with Colorado's famous cherries and sweetened with Colorado beet sugar. Photographers and newspaper men made quite an occasion of her presentation of the pie to the President.

In recounting the episode to her daughter and friends, she declared that the President was very complimentary in regard to the pie, reserving a generous portion of it for his own enjoyment, and dividing it with Food Leader Bankhead and others.

FARM CENTER HEARS TALK ON MWD PROJECT

ORANGE, April 22.—Col. S. H. Finley, secretary of the Metropolitan Water district, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the West Orange farm center at the West Orange school Tuesday night. William Feldner presided. Finley told the story of the Metropolitan Water district and advantages, in an assured water supply, to accompany a county-wide membership in the district.

He said that if Orange county joins the district the city of San Diego also will come in. Because of this fact directors of the district have delayed locating the tunnel to serve this area, he said. Members of the center went on record, by unanimous vote, as opposing location of a prison in this county. The secretary was instructed to send copies of the resolution to Speaker Ted Craig of the assembly and to the committee named to select a site for a new state prison farm.

Music was furnished by the Harmonica orchestra of the Intermediate school. The director's report was given by Fred Albers and that of the home department by Mrs. D. P. Leonard. The next meeting of the home department will be held May 13 in the home of Mrs. R. D. Flaherty, of Santa Ana, when egg cooking will be discussed. The farm bureau picnic was announced for May 15.

Hostesses at a covered dish dinner were Mrs. Fred Albers, Mrs. G. C. Beckman and Mrs. Gilbert Bradford.

THE TIMMIES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Illustrations by GEORGE SCARDO

The man who sat outside the tent replied to Coppy, "I have spent my life just playing music. It spreads good cheer all around. All folks call me the music man, and I play tunes as best I can. Just listen to my fine guitar. It has a lovely sound."

The big guitar went, "plink, plunk, plink," and Coppy said, "I really think that that is very pretty. Will you stay here for a while?"

"When daytime comes, I'll wake the bunch. They'll like it, too. I have a bunch. I'll gladly wait till daybreak," said the old man, with a smile.

"Now, in the meantime, I will play you back to sleep. Right here I'll stay. It wasn't very long till Coppy was in slumberland."

Then morning came and Coppy cried, "Hey, everyone, rush right outside. There is a real treat waiting, and I know you'll think it's grand!"

All of the Timmies soon agreed. The old man, with unusual speed, played several very pretty songs, and then jumped to his feet.

"I've played enough for you today," he cried. "I must be on my way." "Oh, thank you," Goldy shouted. "We've enjoyed the little treat."

The kind prospector then said, "I will put an apron on and try my luck at making pancakes. Who will build a fire for me?"

Brave Scouty answered, "Gee, I will, Pancakes for breakfast. What a thrill!" Then both he and the old man were as busy as could be.

The little blaze soon blazed up high and Dotzy shouted, "Me, oh my! Just watch him mix the batter. He once was a cook, I'll bet."

Coast Group Plans Discussion On Water Project

FILM, LECTURE ARRANGED FOR MESA MEETING

COSTA MESA, April 22.—Hailed as a definite step toward a campaign for county-wide membership in the Metropolitan Water district, the next meeting of the Orange County Coast Association will be held in this community in May.

The entire meeting will be devoted to a discussion of advantages and disadvantages accompanying membership in the organization. A talking picture, telling the story of Metropolitan Water district, showing the work under way and methods to be used in delivering Colorado river water to Southern California, will be exhibited.

In addition to the motion picture, Bernard C. Brennan, of Glendale, a member of the Metropolitan Water district board of directors, will speak. Brennan will explain how this county's water problem could be solved through membership in the district and, possibly, outline the steps to be taken should the county join as one district.

A strong movement to join the district has been under way in the county for several months and South Laguna Beach, has already prepared for the formal application for membership. Similar plans are being prepared in the El Toro district and other areas, notably, the Cypress-Magnolia and Tustin districts have indicated favoring formation of a county-wide district to apply for membership.

COAST ASSOCIATION READY FOR INLAND TOUR APRIL 30

SEAL BEACH, April 22.—Plans for the Orange County Coast association, good will tour to the interior of this and adjoining counties, were completed last night when members of that organization met at Seal Beach.

The tour will start at 9 a. m., April 30 from the Arches where it is expected that more than 25 automobiles will assemble for the caravan. The motorcade will be headed by a passenger bus carrying the Orange County Federal Music Project band, and will stop briefly in each community visited.

From the beach the motorcade will go to Santa Ana, Orange, through Santa Ana canyon to Corralitos, Riverside, Colton and Redlands where the party will stop at Sylvan park for lunch. The return will be by way of San Bernardino, Upland, Ontario, Pomona and Brea canyon to Fullerton.

During the business session Secretary Harry Welsh reported that directors of the association had sent a protest to Gov. Frank Merriam against the location of a prison farm in this county.

Ivan Kelo of the Automobile Club of Southern California was the principal speaker after the business session and discussed "Safety on Highways." In his talk, which stressed the need for ending the slaughter on the highways, he said there is a greater need for the education of motorists than there is for more rigid enforcement of traffic laws. The greatest road menace today, according to the speaker, is the automobile driver who has been drinking.

ONE IS SHIPPED FROM NEW WELL AT FIVE POINTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 22.—The Twentieth Century Oil company is to be preparing to make its first shipment of oil from the Five Points well. The well, first in that area to produce oil, has been erratic, but is now said to be settled to a production of at least 50 barrels of oil daily, averaging around 16 gravity.

One of the two tanks of 1000 barrels capacity each, is claimed to be full of clean oil and trucks will begin hauling the oil to the refinery at once, it is claimed.

The second well to be drilled in the vicinity of the new strike is a half mile east of the first well and this second test is being watched with interest. Drilling is now under way.

WESTMINSTER Party Is Enjoyed By Dancing Class

TUSTIN, April 22.—Brothers, sisters and parents of class members were guests at a recent party of the eighth grade dancing class and their teacher, Miss Cornelle Swain, of the Putnam Dance studio in Santa Ana.

Various novelty dances resulted in prizes being awarded to Charlotte Prothero and Jay Harbour for the fox trot, and to Dorothy Martien and Billy Leinberger for the waltz. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served as a climax to the affair.

MESA LEGION POST TO HOLD BENEFIT DANCE

COSTA MESA, April 22.—A public benefit dance will be held at the Valencia ballroom the night of April 29 under the auspices of the local American Legion post, according to Leslie M. Mitchell, publicity manager for the organization. The funds raised by the program will be used for local disaster and relief work.

A first aid station will be established in the Costa Mesa district under the management of the post, it has been decided, and it will be in operation as soon as details can be arranged. Dr. W. L. Covault will be in charge of the station.

Discussion of matters relative to the organization's building program was held at this week's meeting. The location for the new headquarters, a plot of ground adjoining the Woman's clubhouse grounds on the west, facing Eighteenth street, has been acquired and the construction work will get under way at an early date, it is expected.

Discussion on the proposed prison farm here was held but no definite stand will be taken by the post at present, according to post leaders.

L. B. CASE CONTINUED

LAGUNA BEACH, April 22.—David A. Prenter, Dana Point realtor, secured a continuance of three weeks on a charge of reckless driving when he appeared in Judge C. C. Cravath's court. His car was involved in an accident in which Henry L. Robertson, 34, of 362 Brooks street, Laguna Beach, suffered a fractured skull, internal injuries and contusions. Prenter, who was represented by J. W. Groom, was given until May 12 to answer.

FOLLY and FAREWELL

CHAPTER I

LINDA BOURNE hurried home through the April twilight of that day that was to prove so fateful. A few weeks more, she thought, and the gray bushes would burst into yellow bloom. April was a nice month, but May would be nicer. That was all right; it was exciting to think of what was ahead. In May the lilacs would blossom, opening their hearts to fill the air with heady perfume. And sometimes the birds sang at night. The moon would be round as a silver dollar on the twentieth . . .

"Wilda's party" (thus Linda's thoughts flew) "is on the twentieth. I will sit on the terrace with Dix and feel the broadcloth of his sleeve beneath my hands that get hot and cold when I think of him. Oh, Dix . . . my lamb with tawny hair and fierce eyebrows that grow so straight across your brow. You haven't an aristocratic nose at all, and your mouth is sensual, but you are an aristocrat and you aren't sensual. You're divine . . ."

The dance would be her seventeenth date with Dix. Seventeen since the night of the Glea Club concert. The concert at Adelphi Hall, and the tawny-headed boy booming Neapolitan love songs lustily in his sweet, untrained voice. And later, the waiter coming to tell her that "her grandmother" wished her to take supper in the alcove.

And in the alcove there was Dix, he tawny-headed singer. "Hello, Red-head," he said. "I didn't know any other way to get you away from that mob and I wanted to know you. I'm Dix—Dixon Cobb Carter. Will you have some chicken salad?"

That was the way it began. Linda had some definite ideas about how she hoped it would end. Where she didn't care. The farthest corner of the earth in a canvas tent would be all right with her, so long as it was at the end of a life spent with him.

Linda, on her way home from her errand at the Newtown Blade office, turned into her own street—and her dreaming came to an end abruptly. It was the appearance of her own home that startled her. The big house was ablaze with lights; the drive was filled with cars, yet only silence came from the house, and there were strangers standing on the wide porch.

AFTERWARDS she couldn't remember who took her aside, telling her to be brave, to remember that her father could not have been in his right mind—and finally—that he was dead by his own hand.

And when she had escaped to her own room, she stared at herself in the mirror, shamed that she could not cry, yet realizing that she could not be untrue to herself. Linda Bourne did not love her

CONSIDER THE CHILDREN

The good citizens of Flint Hill, Va., are emphatically on record for bad roads.

A delegation from the village visited the governor protesting plans to route a modern highway through the town. "A good road would menace our school children," argued the members. "Can't you arrange to run the road west of Flint Hill?"

And thereby hangs a timely thought for the rest of the country. It seems to be automatically understood in these days of modern road building that the local chamber of commerce must bring every pressure to route fast new highways down Main street. "It brings business," is the cry.

But Flint Hill looked at the matter from a new angle. And admittedly it is a sane one.

FAILURE OF ATHLETICS

Dr. Charles J. Turck, president of Centre College, told a group of educators the other day that the worst thing that ever happened to his school was the famous victory of the "Praying Colonels" over Harvard football team in 1921.

"That victory upset the whole town's judgment of college values," the educator pointed out, adding that only 32 of the 134 freshmen attracted to the college after the great victory remained to be graduated four years later.

And so, urges Dr. Turck, we ought to get rid of this "octopus and let commercial agencies of the sporting world provide for the public these gladiatorial shows."

Looking back at the swift decline of that 1922 freshman class, it's easy to see why he feels that way.

PERFECT SHAVE AT LAST!

There is a cheering note in the recent report of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research that touches every man—it is the promise of a "perfect shave."

For three years scientists applied themselves to a detailed study of the mechanics of shaving. "There has come from these studies," the institute reports, "a sound explanation of the effects of razor design upon the shape of the hair stump remaining on the face, and upon the character of skin injuries caused by shaving, that has enabled the fellowship to contrive a razor of improved shaving quality."

It would appear, therefore, that one of the oldest goals of the human race may be attained at last. And it might be added, too, that nothing is more likely to move man to a keener appreciation of science than the achievement of a perfect shave!

NEGLECTFUL PARENTS

The oldest arrow in the quiver of the experienced criminal lawyer is the picture of a gray-haired mother weeping over the waywardness of her unfortunate son.

Any reporter who has covered very many criminal court trials can tell you all about it. The thug who is being tried will sit at the trial table, doing his level best to wear an innocent, more-sinned-against-than-sinners look; and his attorney, with quivering voice, will tell the jury about the mother of "this poor boy," and will beg them to send sonny back to her so that her pure mother-love may redeem and ennoble him.

It is all very pretty and inspiring, of course. But it is about time that someone spoke up and inquired why mother isn't right there in the dock along with sonny boy, facing trial on her own account.

J. Edgar Hoover, renowned head of the G-Men, told the New York Round Table Forum the other day that an amazing number of the crimes charged to our underworld these days should really be charged to the underworldlings' parents.

Some 20 per cent of all our crime, said Mr. Hoover, is committed by lads who are not yet old enough to vote. Many of these youngsters are still of high school age. Practically all of them come from homes where papa and mamma just couldn't be bothered to enforce discipline, set up high moral standards and, in general, see to it that Junior set his feet in the way that he should go.

Worse yet, continued Mr. Hoover, when one of these wayward boys does get into a jam with the law, his parents come down to court with only one thought in mind—to get him out of trouble. That he may need a swift rap across the knuckles to straighten him out never seems to enter their heads.

They weep over him and cuddle up to him and save him, if they can, from paying the penalty for his misdeeds, and, by the same token, they leave him feeling that it is all right if he goes out and steals another car or sticks up another filling station, as long as the law doesn't catch him.

The attack on crime, then, Mr. Hoover concludes, must begin with "a reconstruction of the American viewpoint toward better parental discipline and a greater sense of law abidance beginning in the home."

This is so undeniably true as to be self-evident. Yet it is the one step we usually overlook when we talk about wiping out the underworld.

The police courts, jails, penitentiaries, and death chambers of our land tell an unspeakably tragic story; and it is a story which, in the vast majority of cases, begins back in some American home in which the father and the mother made a terrible mess of their most important job.

Back of almost every criminal stands a parent who failed.

REPUBLICANS ALSO GUILTY

Lewis Haney, Professor of Economics of the New York University, has the following to say in answering the question, "You say that if the new dealers would quit bounding business, there would be business recovery, and then unemployment would cease. But didn't Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover let business have its head, and wasn't the depression a result?"

Ans.: No. The Republican administrations of the "new era" period made many of the same mistakes that the new dealers have made. They interfered with business in many ways which stimulated inflation and caused maladjustments.

They interfered with foreign trade (Hawley-Smoot tariff act) and adopted wild policies of foreign loans. They encouraged speculation. They kept money "easy." They went in for "open market operations," a federal farm board, and the artificial high wage policy. They held the same notions about "creating purchasing power" by juggling money and credit that Roosevelt has adopted.

By their interference, they created credit inflation and a runaway boom. By the same methods, Roosevelt is trying to cause "reflation" now.

Haney also replies to the question "Didn't unemployment increase sharply during the Hoover administration, when the government was not 'interfering' with business men?"

His answer is as follows:

Unemployment increased, but it was made worse by continual government interference. The 'boom' was made more extreme by a political federal reserve board. The inevitable crash was made worse by the Hoover policies of trying to "create purchasing power" through government aid to farmers, prostituting the banks, etc. By the same sort of thing, Roosevelt is now retarding recovery and making it unsound.

Haney also answers well the following question:

"After the depression is over, what is to become of the army of the unemployed? Since the new deal has wasted billions, imposed heavy taxes, and injured business, and since public works are near the limit and foreign trade hopeless, how can we regain our lost heritage?"

Answer: Only by atoning for our economic errors, and beginning over again our sound economic principles. Eventually, we will have to go through more depression. Only hard work and thrift, wisely directed, can restore us.

Real industrial recovery will mean a full normal employment of labor, and such recovery will come when we:

- (1) Quit trying to get "recovery" on the installment plan—by going into debt.
- (2) Return to a sound monetary system.
- (3) Allow price maladjustments to work out freely.

Of these, the third is the fundamental point. Once commodities, labor and interest rates are allowed to find normal levels, it will be found that buying and selling, employment, and borrowing and lending, will all recover together. With values and prices right, goods will circulate, and of course money circulation will follow suit.

How do I know this? For two reasons. First, there is no known limit to man's wants and standard of living. Second, millions of business men, seeking profits, will find the way to gratify those wants and thus make both employment and profits.

This will come when we get through the borrowings and boondoggles and their schemes of "social planning"—in this and other nations.

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Roosevelt personally has set in motion a campaign to discredit, if possible, the affectiveness of those Washington correspondents who write articles critical of his administration.

For a long time there was not the slightest evidence that Mr. Roosevelt resented criticism or that he would undertake any punitive measures against his critics. His position as a tolerant president was defended by this correspondent and others as being in keeping with the American tradition of a free press.

Within the last fortnight, the situation has changed. Mr. Roosevelt on two separate occasions discussed with visiting publishers and newspaper owners the question of permitting Washington correspondents to interpret the news. The versions as to what Mr. Roosevelt said vary but it is declared that he plainly showed a desire to influence the editors to discontinue printing material of the interpretative character and urging that the news be published without "color."

It so happens, of course, that on the government payroll are many newspaper writers who really are the authors of official announcements of various kinds and in many instances such announcements are duly colored to put the administration in a favorable light politically. If only "official" announcements or what Mr. Roosevelt terms the "news" were printed, the American people would get only one side of the story.

In the last few years, a group of Washington correspondents have been permitted by their publishers to interpret the news and give their frank appraisal or evaluation of passing events. In this way the news behind the news can be told and the true story of the New Deal can be unfolded. It would be a big advantage to Mr. Roosevelt politically if he could bring about the suppression of those writings which are unfavorable to his cause.

Mr. Roosevelt is in frequent conference with the publicity agents of the Democratic National committee, who are paid to do everything they can to discredit opponents. Recently the Democratic National committee sent out to newspapers of the country a libelous statement charging that several writers who have been opposing New Deal policies had been "formally taken over by the Republican National committee." There was no truth in the statement and the Democratic publicity men know it, but it seemed such a good way to start the smear campaign against correspondents whose writings are disliked by the Roosevelt regime.

Now, for any newspaper writer in Washington to be "formally taken over" or in any way connected with either a Democratic or Republican National committee means plainly that he is hired for money to write the views of those political committees. No newspaperman who cares anything about his standing in his profession would do a thing like that and continue to write for newspapers. In other words, a correspondent may or may not express views that are concurred in by political speakers of either party or any cause and yet be expressing his convictions without any financial or other connection with a political committee.

The Democratic publicity bureau, however, believing that perhaps the public is not familiar with the high standard of ethics of the Washington correspondents and will be ready to accept any charges that are made as being true, has seized on the device to discredit the Washington correspondents. Mr. Roosevelt himself is now carrying out the Democratic publicity bureau policy by his direct attacks on Washington correspondents.

The first step toward undermining a free press is to discredit the opposition. Gradually, in foreign countries, opposition editors and writers have been made the victims of the wrath of the powers that be. Some have submitted to such tactics and others have resisted. But in the long run, as dictatorships are imposed, the press fights a losing battle.

Mr. Roosevelt's words cannot be quoted, as they were given in private conversations with editors and publishers, who, according to custom, have declined to quote what the president said. But the direct connection between the public attack made by the Democratic National committee on various Washington correspondents and the president's conversations in private is no longer a secret and in the public interest ought not to be. If the news out of Washington is to be controlled directly or indirectly by the administration in power, the American people ought to know the situation as quickly as possible. And if writers who are conscientiously trying to write their impressions of what is happening in Washington are to be made the objects of a punitive campaign because they happen to disagree, this, too, ought to be fully disclosed so that the first sign of a real dictatorship may be recorded and so that the restraints being put on the freedom of the press may be known to the reading public.

Pop was smoking to himself with a satisfied expression, and said, Willyum, I don't like to seem to be the bearer of bad tidings, but I'm afraid Fishy is a little sluggish this evening.

Meaning her new goldfish wanking along on the bottom of the aquarium instead of swimming around loose, and pop said, Perhaps he just has a little headache and it might be tactful not to notice him.

I'm afraid it's more serious than that, he's not a temperamental fish, I mean when he's well he's well and that's the end of it, ma said, and pop said, Ordinarily my intrist would be about exhawsted at this point, but it just occurs to me that this is Be Kind to Animals Week. In other words it's practice week and there doesn't seem to be anything around the house to practice on except your goldfish. By golly, if he's in trouble this is the very week to help him. Can you figure some way we could give him a little more air? he said.

Willyum I'm afraid you've hit the nail on the head even harder than you imagine, ma said, I mean I suddenly realized this morning that this is Be Kind to Animals Week, so I gave Fishy a few extra little flips of Excelsior Fin-food, although the directions on the box say not more than twice a week. I mean I thawt I might make an exception for Be Kind to Animals Week, and I must say Fishy joined heartily in the experiment, she said, and I said, G. ma, he joined in mine too, I remembered about Be Kind to Animals Week after school this afternoon and I saw the Excelsior Fin-food and I gave some to Fishy and he didn't leave a speck.

Yee gobs, besides killing that fish by kindness you're making a pig of him, pop said, and ma hurry up went and got the bicarbonate soda and sprinkled some in the aquarium but Fishy just looked at it suspiciously.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

USEFUL FEARS

Dear children: fear is useful when it prevents one from getting into trouble. Children should be confirmed in useful fears rather than shamed out of them. It is cowardly to fear to tell the truth, but it is wise to wait for the turn of the traffic light. Such wise fear is called caution. It would benefit the children to have some of that quality in their characters.

It is wise to attend to a scratch as soon as possible. There is nothing very brave about saying, "Pooh! it doesn't hurt." It may not hurt but it may be dirty and make trouble and plenty of "hurt" later.

Matches are good things to let alone. It is not brave to light them on a dare. Any fool can strike a match, and run away when the fire starts.

Jumping off high places and across dangerous ditches, walking trestles and tracks just because somebody dared you to is foolhardy. It is more courageous, and certainly more intelligent, to scorn the dare.

Going into the water without knowing how to swim is foolish, nothing brave about it. A baby can do it—and get drowned; may be drown some one else who had to go after him.

Snatching fruit off the stand, hooking potatoes out of the bins, stealing corn from the crib or the stand, is never bright and brave. Nobody with a grain of intelligence admires such behavior. It shows that the one doing it has no wit or wit of his own and so is just a catpaw for the smart ones who know enough to keep out of trouble.

Breaking windows, shoving helpless old people off the sidewalks, calling names at people as they pass are the actions of a show-off. The sniggering lads who stand in the background while the foolish ones perform, laugh themselves sore at the victim when he is chased and punished.

"Who's afraid? I can hitch on a truck see if I can't." "Pooh, I'm not afraid of that dog. I can pat him on the head if I like." "You dare me to walk in the puddles? I don't care if I do get wet feet. Who's afraid?"

Sensible children, intelligent people are always afraid of making trouble for themselves, of getting into situations that embarrass them, that spoil their reputations as fine citizens.

Cultivate a few cautions for your self-preservation. It is so stupid to court injury, illness, even death, just stand on the word of a simpleton. You won't find these dangers in the high intelligence group. They are down at the foot of the class, and their only hope of shining is by way of their dares. The only chance they get to associate with the good pupils is this silly, empty-headed one of daring them to do stupid things. If they fail for their dares they laugh. And rightly. Anybody who accepts a silly dare because he has been challenged to prove his courage deserves to be hooted. They have been used as a catpaw by the cheapest minds in the group.

Real courage scorns such bids, because it is the high expression of fine intelligence. Watch out! Don't be caught.

Very cordially yours,

ANGELO PATRI.

Editor Register:—There is a lot of horse sense in your Saturday's editorial anent the proposed prison farm. What I like is your fairness in presenting both sides of the question so that each of us is able to weigh the arguments and make his decision. If still undecided let him drive to Costa Mesa, then north on Fairview avenue, say as far as Adams street, then east a half-mile or so and get a good view of the proposed farm site. This land, now mostly a dreary waste was once worth $3000 an acre as potential oil land. Now try to envision this property as it will be after the state has spent its millions on it. Think of it as a thriving village with a going institution costing millions and all of it handed to us on a silver platter. You know there are always a few mossbacks that oppose any improvement whether it costs them anything or not. The business men are hollering for more pay rolls. Well, how are you going to get pay rolls if you turn down such a proposition? Can you imagine any dumb enough to oppose it?

O. E. HENDEE.

Editor Register:—Do the people of Orange County know what a state penitentiary means to our county? Why should such a blot be placed against the people here? Our county has the lowest criminal record per capita of any county in Southern California. Why place this institution in our midst when some of our adjoining counties have millions of acres and where a great deal of their territory is sparsely settled and little damage would be caused to the adjoining properties in such a location?

"Do you know that the criminals placed in this institution will not be confined behind brick walls during working hours, but will be out in the open working in the vegetable gardens and other outside work? Think of five or six thousand of such criminals working in the open. How many guards would it take to keep some of the most dangerous of these criminals from escaping? If you had property near such an institution would you feel safe in leaving your mother, wife or daughter alone in your home? You know that escapes occur even in Folsom and San Quentin where the inmates are confined behind great walls.

"Why any citizen of this county could approve locating such an institution here is beyond my understanding. Some will say that it will bring trade to our towns. Do you know that all materials and goods furnished to this institution will be let by contract, and what chance would our merchants have in competing with the big wholesale houses of Los Angeles and San Francisco?"

"Do you realize that this institution if placed here will be here for that prison forever, if it is put here, paying in loss of assessed values now going to county, district and school taxes, paying in decreased valuations for miles around the place, paying in the cost of prosecuting scores of assaults, burglaries and escapes cases. Our courts would have to handle those cases, and we would pay the bills. "Again, referring to that siren, Suppose it blew just as you were starting your daughter off to school."

The motion picture scene below, furnished by the Santa Ana Motor company, 100 South Main, reveals the modern-day method used by W. A. James, advertising manager of the Hudson Motor Car company, in preparing for spring and summer sales. "When we are planning our Hudson spring campaign, all Michigan, including Detroit, is snowbound," he said. "To hurdle the difficulty, the art director, Rudolf Czufin, is sent to Hollywood to get pictures in the right surroundings. We must do like the film show producers—get the right setting and reveal our product as it will look in the spring or summer. If we want a 'location,' the film executives who assist us, know just where to take us."

SEWAGE PLANS ARE GIVEN TO WATER BOARD

The future of sewage reclamation in Orange county was referred to the Orange County Water District by the county supervisors, as directors of the flood control district, when the question was referred to the board yesterday by its committee, Supervisors W. C. Jerome and Leroy Lyon.

Jerome and Lyon asked the board for instructions as to the attitude they shall adopt at the impending meeting of the general county committee on sewage reclamation, shortly to be held to discuss procedure following the dismantling of the experimental plant that has been operated on West First street, Santa Ana.

The supervisors decided that the flood control district would not proceed further with the project, but would leave it in the hands of the water district board.

The supervisors approved the final report of Engineer W. K. Hillyard showing completion of the $173,000 Batavia storm drain project, carried out by the county and city of Orange as joint sponsors of the WPA project.

The city and county shared the sponsor's contribution of $35,607, with the federal government contributing $144,441, of which $7000 remains as an unused balance. This was transferred to other projects.

The storm drain project was 15 months under construction. It will handle any major storm water runoff, Engineer Hillyard reported.

Will Move Bridge
Request of Joseph Beck, secretary of the state senate, and Louis Briggs, both Balboa residents, for approval of their application to the War department for permission to move a bridge connecting Harbor island with the mainland, at Newport bay, was granted. No cost to the county was involved, but the board's approval was needed in order to get the War department permit. The bridge will be moved from the center of the island to one end.

Float Requested
An invitation from the San Francisco mayor and board of supervisors, that Orange county enter a float in the parade celebrating completion of the San Francisco bay bridge early next November, was referred by the board to V. D. Johnson, of Orange, county publicity director.

Gets Jail Term On Five Charges

LAGUNA BEACH, April 22.—Following a plea of guilty to various charges, including drunkenness, peace disturbance, resisting arrest, attempt to escape and violation of probation, H. L. Rowe was sentenced to 90 days in county jail in Justice Cravath's court at Laguna Beach, Tuesday afternoon.

Constable E. T. Cresce, who arrested Rowe, stated that the latter hid in a house, from which he refused to emerge, necessitating Cresce's awakening Judge Cravath at 1:30 a. m. in order to secure a warrant of entry. Later, Cresce had to break in a door in order to arrest Rowe, who, as Cresce entered, started to leave by another door.

Reviewing the case, Judge Cravath decided that leniency would be misplaced, Rowe having already been granted several chances. In addition to the 90-day sentence, five days were added by reason of non-payment of a fine levied against Rowe two weeks ago.

CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING IS POTENTIAL DANGER TO MOTORIST TEST IN EIGHT STATES REVEALS

Recent extensive tests made on hundreds of cars and trucks in eight states, with cooperation of the highway departments, found 57 per cent contained carbon monoxide inside with nearly six per cent having dangerous concentrations, according to Curtis Vaught of the carburetor department of Harry Harlow Automotive service.

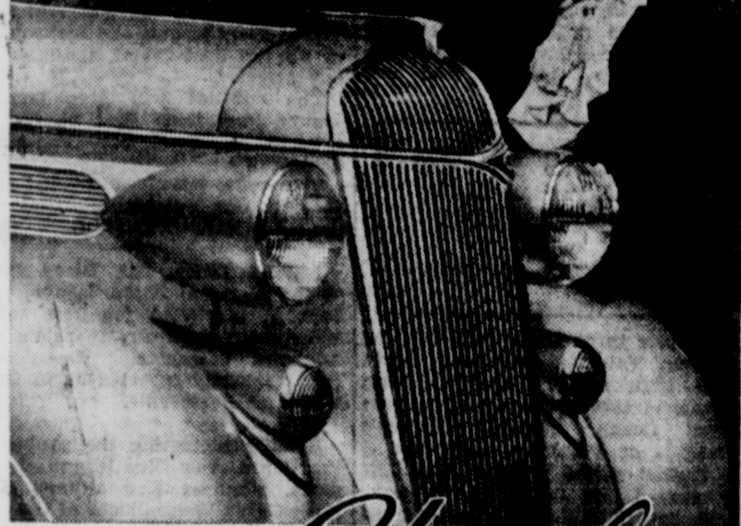

Forty per cent of cars and trucks were found to have exhaust leaks at some point ahead of the tail pipe.

"The highway division of Illinois, in December, 1935, at end of a survey, estimated that 1,000,000 cars of American highways daily endanger the lives of their occupants because of carbon monoxide fumes," Vaught said. "Ten million cars or more in which the same danger is present in less acute degree, are running daily and should be examined and corrected. Carbon monoxide is tasteless, odorless and invisible and is often present when there is no acid smell of exhaust gases to warn of danger. A very small amount will seriously slow a driver's reactions and impair his road judgment."

"There are three things the motorist should do to reduce the danger: 1. Repair or adjust the carburetor and properly tune up the engine. This will reduce the proportion of carbon monoxide in the exhaust gases, besides yielding better performance and economy. 2. Eliminate the leaks from under the hood and beneath the car into its interior. A good floor mat is something more than to rest your feet on. 3. Examine the whole exhaust system from engine block to tail pipe for leaks."

The Friendliest Kind of Banking

—Is that which sticks closest to sound banking principles.

SOUND banking protects depositors' money, safeguards stockholders' interests and encourages borrowing customers to enter upon only such undertakings as contain the elements of success. Each one of these considerations is the truest form of friendship a bank can offer.

Sound banking principles permit only safe, profitable operations which return a fair yield on invested capital. They enable the bank to maintain an efficient organization and build up ample reserves and surplus to fortify the protection of depositors' money.

In our next advertisement we shall point out some practices which are not acts of true banking friendship, no matter how pleasantly and courteously performed.
